Powers Offer Aid In Effort To Bring Japan-China Peace

Brussels Conference Gives Committee Delicate Task in Orient

No Intention To Impose Terms

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Brussels conference of 19 nations decided today to empower a sub-committee to offer its aid to Japan and China in effecting peace between the two nations, and reliable indications were that Great Britain, the United States and Belgium would be on the committee.

Italy and France also probably would be represented.

The committee, in effect, has a double mandate to offer its good offices for the restoration of peace and to reply to Japan's refusal of an invitation to attend the conference here, called under provision of the Nine-power Treaty which pledges respect for the territorial integrity of China.

The committee was scheduled to be named at a conference session opening tonight, the conference adjourning until then to permit the delegates to be received by King Leopold.

AID IF WANTED

The mandate given to the committee stipulates that, in extending its offer of aid to Japan and China in seeking peace, it must make clear that this aid is offered if wanted—that it will not be imposed.

The sub-committee will study both Japan's communication of refusal to the conference invitation and an additional statement issued in Tokyo, defining Japan's position.

Several delegates said they had received the impression that Japan had not closed the door to negotiation or to mediation efforts through third parties, provided they be countries possessing real interest in the Far East.

The idea is to assure Japan the Brussels conference is a sovereign convocation under the Nine-power Treaty, and has nothing to do with the League of Nations—as Japan, not a League member, has said.

Fund for Prairie Needy Is $10,118

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver committee for western relief reported today its fund for the aid of farmers in the drought-stricken areas of Saskatchewan had passed the $10,000 mark. The total rose to $10,118.45.

Chest At $49,393 In Best Day Yet

Canvassers Bring in $9,315; Women Exceed Objective

In the best day of canvassing yet, $9,315.31 was added to the Community Chest yesterday to bring the federation's campaign total to $49,393.51.

Almost 1,000 extra subscribers were listed, bringing the total number of people who have contributed so far to nearly 3,000, a record for any charity drive in Victoria.

With less than a third of the objective of $72,000 still to collect, and more than half the campaign remaining, Chest directors were predicting success.

"I think we are in a splendid position," Frank Paulding, campaign manager, declared this morning. "We have still the great bulk of the employees to hear from. There are over 10,000 of them, and only 1,000 have been reported on so far."

Large Chinese Reinforcements

Thousands of Fresh Troops Poured Into Battlelines At Shanghai

By JAMES A. MILLS Associated Press Correspondent

SHANGHAI—Thousands of fresh Chinese troops, well equipped and thoroughly disciplined, poured into Chinese positions on the Shanghai front Thursday.

During a personal inspection, I witnessed the arrival of the new troops from the west, smart-looking and apparently unafraid of Japanese bombing planes overhead.

Aided by these reinforcements, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's youthful legions fought furiously against the Japanese veterans.

Ignoring circling bombing planes and Japanese heavy artillery, the Chinese time and again lashed out at the Japanese troops.

The result was Japanese positions along the south bank of Soochow Creek became almost untenable.

NARROW WEDGE

I found the Japanese had landed at only one place along Soochow Creek, where they drove a narrow wedge into the Chinese position south of the creek.

But the Japanese foothold was so precarious it was doubtful if it could survive a Chinese counter-attack which was due shortly.

The Chinese positions in the rear areas were so formidable it was considered likely the Chinese could hold up the Japanese for some time. It also was apparent the Chinese intend to hold their right flank on the International Settlement boundary. There they were completing powerful barbed wire entanglements and sandbag barriers contiguous to positions of the British and French guard outposts near Hunjiao Road.

The Chinese morale was exceedingly high despite severe casualties.

Dispatches earlier today and yesterday said there were persistent reports the Chinese were on the verge of withdrawing from the entire Shanghai peninsula, but no confirmation was forthcoming.

In north China the tide of battle shifted back and forth along the Peiping-Hankow railway, with the Chinese declaring their forces had launched an offensive which carried them northward across the Chang River.

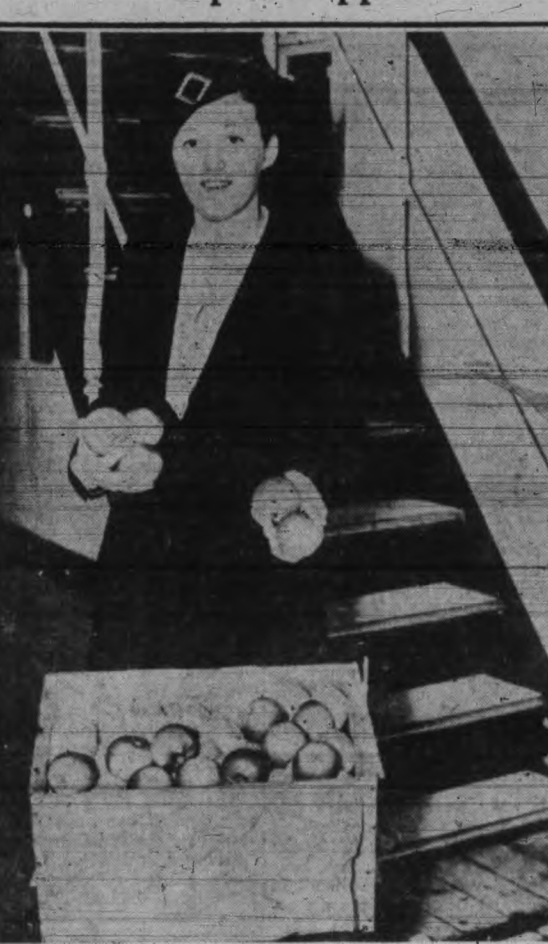

Dispatches earlier today and yesterday said there were persistent reports the Chinese were on the verge of withdrawing from the entire Shanghai peninsula, but no confirmation was forthcoming.

To the Kelowna district of B.C. Mrs. Isobel Stillingfleet will bring back from Birmingham, Eng., the title of the best apple packer in the Empire. Competing against groups of British packers and girls from Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, she won the award for speed and skill at the Imperial Fruit Show, concluded last week. The picture, received in Victoria today, shows the 28-year-old B.C. woman at Southampton, Eng.

Canada's Highest Court to Rule On Baby Marathon

Supreme Tribunal Today Heard Millar Toronto Will Arguments

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today reserved judgment on the interpretation of the will of Charles Millar, which has stirred hopes of wealth in the minds of mothers of some large Toronto families.

"We will have to consider this," said Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff after counsel for Millar's next-of-kin, for his executors, and for the mothers who hope to benefit from the unusual testament had presented their arguments.

Millar left the residue of his estate, estimated at various sums from $500,000 upwards to the mother giving birth in Toronto to the largest number of children in the 10 years following his death. He died October 31, 1926.

I. F. Helmuth, K.C., appeared for Millar's next-of-kin to appeal against a finding of the Court of Appeal of Ontario that this clause was valid. He argued it was invalid as against public policy. The effect of a judgment in his favor would leave the residue of the estate in intestacy and result in its distribution among the next-of-kin.

The will referred to future children, not children already born, said Mr. Helmuth. By its plain meaning it included illegitimate as well as legitimate children. It was therefore an inducement to the birth of illegitimate children. (Turn to Page 16, Col. 2)

Keen Demand for Gold in London

LONDON (AP)—So keen was the demand for gold in the London free market today that buyers paid a premium of 18 cents an ounce over the parity price for the approximately $2,000,000 available. Purchasers were said to represent continental interests desiring the metal for hoarding purposes.

Women Rescued From Octopus

FORT BRAGG, CAL. (AP)—Clutched by a giant octopus, Mrs. H. C. Graves spent several terrifying minutes before she was rescued by friends.

Mrs. Graves was attacked while gathering abalones here Wednesday.

Solving Mrs. Graves' ankle the huge devil fish circled her waist with another tentacle and pinned her left arm to her side. She was rescued by her companions, who beat the monster to death with their iron abalone bars.

CHILDREN FIND HUNTER DEAD

John Mossman Victim At Sandwick As Trigger Catches in Wire

John H. Mossman, 41, was killed in a hunting accident near his home at Sandwick in the Courtenay district of Vancouver Island last night, according to advice received at Provincial Police headquarters here this morning.

Two Japanese children on their way to school at 8 this morning found Mossman's body, with the head blown off, in a lane leading from their home to the highway.

The hunter's double-barreled shotgun, with both chambers discharged, was found sticking through a fence near the body. The time of the accident is not known. It probably happened between dusk and the time the body was found this morning.

Sergeant D. O. Tweedhope of the Courtenay division, who investigated, said it appeared Mossman must have climbed the fence and then gone to pull the gun through when the triggers caught on the barbed wire fence, discharging both barrels.

B.C. Cabinet To Have Nine

The British Columbia cabinet will be increased to nine ministers after formation of the new Department of Trade and Industries, for which a bill was introduced in the Legislature yesterday by Premier Pattullo. The Premier confirmed this morning that he plans to make the department a full-time work of a minister but added he was not ready to indicate whom he might invite to accept the post.

PARTIES MOVE TO NOMINATE

All Candidates for By-election To Be Chosen by Monday

By next Monday night the campaign in the Victoria by-election will be under way with three party candidates chosen.

The C.C.F. at a meeting of the district council tonight, will lead the way in officially naming their standard bearer. Prof. J. King Gordon, who ran for the party twice before, seems assured of the nomination. Last night he was endorsed by the New Form C.C.F. of Ward Four and was previously supported by James Bay and Victoria West clubs.

Tomorrow night the Liberals will meet at a nomination convention in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to select their candidate. R. W. Mayhew is reported as receiving strong support for the honor.

Conservatives will choose Monday night at a convention in the Chamber of Commerce. It was decided by the executive last night. At least three names, W. H. M. Haldane, Robert D. Harvey and Bruce McKelvie, will go before the 293 delegates. Mr. Harvey and Mr. Haldane are officers of the Victoria Conservative Association. Mr. McKelvie was a candidate in the provincial election.

Tourist Council For Province

New B.C. Law Sets Up Special Body To Promote Traffic

A "tourist council" of seven, including four civil servants and three from tourist promotion groups, will be set up under the new British Columbia Department of Trade and Industries. The bill creating the new department was introduced in the Legislature by Premier Pattullo.

The tourist council will serve without remuneration, except for traveling expenses, and will have the following duties:

- To stimulate and co-ordinate the activities of all associations, or other public and private organizations engaged in developing the tourist traffic of the province, and generally facilitate the development of a unified tourist policy.
- To encourage the formation of tourist bureaus.
- To collaborate with all organizations interested in the stimulation of tourist traffic, and generally to seek the most favorable conditions for the development of the tourist industry.

Canada-Mexico Speed Flight

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank W. Muller, San Francisco speed pilot who won the Bendix race held in conjunction with the United States National Air Races at Cleveland earlier in the year, took off at 12:37 p.m. (P.S.T.) today for Agua Caliente, Mexico, in an attempt to break the existing flight record.

The present record of five hours 28 minutes for the "three-flag" trip was set in 1935 by Earl Ortman of Los Angeles, Calif. The plane Muller is using—a low-wing (Seversky) monoplane has a top speed of more than 300 miles an hour.

Government to Submit Drastic Security Law To Legislature Soon

Premier Backs Police Change

Premier Says Change in Commission System Must Be Made

Indication that the provincial government may be favorable to a change in the police commission set-up of Victoria and Vancouver was given in a statement by Premier Pattullo today.

The Premier said some change would have to be made in the system under which a police magistrate and a county court judge sit on the board and direct police affairs.

He said he had received a communication from Judge J. N. Ellis, who is anxious to retire from the police commission of Vancouver.

Judge Ellis, he said, made a similar application some months ago and only remained at his request.

Personally, the Premier said, he did not think that a judge and a police magistrate should sit on the police commission, and that "it seemed anomalous that a man should occupy an administrative and a judicial position at the same time in respect of the same subject matter."

The Premier said he realized the difficulties of the situation, but he felt that some change must be made.

In East Indies

Above is one of the most recent pictures of Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, now a visitor in the Dutch East Indies. To Sir Hugh, British ambassador to China, international attention was directed recently when he was wounded by a Japanese war plane pilot while motoring from Nanking to Shanghai. The liner Empress of Asia, which called at Victoria last Monday, carried Sir Hugh and his family from Hongkong to Manila on their way to the Indies.

Big Ceremony For Opening of Bridge

Nation-wide Broadcast Planned for B.C.'s Biggest Span November 15

Arrangements for an elaborate opening ceremony November 15 for the Pattullo bridge, to be broadcast by national network across Canada, were completed today at the Legislative Buildings and announced by Hon. Frank M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works.

Dignitaries and officials from three United States coast states have been invited and will join with British Columbians in celebrating the completion of the magnificent $4,000,000 structure across the Fraser River at New Westminster. All members of the Legislature, senators, federal members, mayors and reeves, judges, naval and military heads, will attend.

Premier T. D. Pattullo, after whom the bridge is named, will use an acetylene torch to sever a chain across the centre of the span. He will lead a cavalcade of official cars first over the roadway.

Electrical transcriptions of the ceremonial speeches, movie-tone shots for distribution in all Canadian theatres and local and national broadcasts will publicize the event.

The opening is timed for noon, sharp, on November 15. The cavalcade will cross the Fraser River on the old bridge and line up on the south end.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and member for New Westminster, will open the proceedings with an address introducing A. S. Gentles of the Dominion Bridge Company, who will formally turn the bridge over to Mr. MacPherson, the works minister. Mr. MacPherson will call on the Premier to open the bridge.

Chamberlain Says Trade Envoys Will Have No Diplomatic Status

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today the British government and the Spanish insurgents were negotiating for appointment of commercial agents.

This did not mean, he declared, de facto diplomatic recognition for Gen. Franco.

These agents will have no diplomatic status," the Premier said.

"There is no intention on the part of the British government to make any variation in the attitude they consistently have adopted toward the contending parties in Spain, which is governed by the international (non-intervention) agreement to which we have subscribed."

They are, however, bound to take account of their responsibilities.

For the protection of British interests, Mr. Chamberlain said, "His Majesty's government had entered upon negotiations for the appointment of agents by them and Gen. Franco, respectively."

Wide Powers to Halt Fraudulent Practices Proposed in New Measure

Many Changes Are Offered

Legislation giving the British Columbia government important new control measures over stock promotion and security trading has been drafted for presentation within a few days to the Legislature.

Outlined today by Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, the amendments proposed to the Securities Act will furnish wide powers to protect the investing public in practically every phase of company promotion and stock dealing, including control of stock exchanges.

Mr. Wismer made it plain that his plan is to maintain confidence in the investment market, particularly mining, and that the government has no intention of using the act oppressively.

TO RETAIN CONFIDENCE

"It will be a help to legitimate enterprises and sound investments. But to keep up the confidence which will encourage the flow of capital into our companies, we must have strong measures to curb fraudulent schemes," he said.

The Attorney-General said that when his legislation reached the house he would welcome suggestions from all sides. It was in no sense a party matter and if the house wanted he would have no objection to a special committee studying the whole matter and hearing representations from the public.

Important among the new amendments is one that forces a company to advise the securities branch of any change in its financial or physical set-up. Under this a company would have to make known if it failed to strike expected ore bodies, for instance, and the government could prevent a company selling more stock if its affairs were going badly, thus preventing directors from "getting out from under."

High pressure salesmanship of securities will be halted under an amendment which will prevent stock salesmen from calling at people's homes or telephoning to sell them stock. This will be permitted only when a salesman is dealing with a personal friend, a regular customer or a business associate.

PENALTY PROVISIONS

Penalty provisions have been strengthened by raising to $25,000 fine and six months' imprisonment the maximum for an individual convicted of fraudulent practice. Previously the limit was $1,000 and only a company could be fined $25,000.

A company or its heads are guilty if they fail to disclose pertinent facts as well as if they make false statements.

The government has power in the new amendments to void a contract if a broker's customer signs an unreasonable blanket agreement by which a broker can pledge his stock at a bank or deal with otherwise. A specific agreement must be signed before this will be permitted.

Advertising for investments of capital by promises of work in a company is stopped. If a company publishes misleading information about itself the government is given the right to publish a correction.

Investment counsel must register as brokers and assume similar responsibility.

Efforts To Trace Auto Thieves

B.C. Police Examine Auto Taken From Gulf Bottom Near Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP) — British Columbia police today searched through the soggy interior of a stolen car they had recovered early this morning from the seabottom off nearby Brechin Point, hoping to find some clue to solve the robbery mystery.

For four days the car had lain a few feet from shore in deep water. Diver P. T. Collins of Victoria located the car Wednesday and placed a sling around it to make lifting possible.

Earlier in the week police had feared some persons or persons might have died when the automobile dropped over a 28-foot cliff into the water. When the car was hauled back to the roadway, officers learned definitely that it was a sedan reported stolen from A. Kazlo of Nanaimo some time Saturday night.

"However, the last $15,000 is always a chore. I shall feel we are on the home stretch when we pass the $60,000 mark."

Women again led the way in canvassing. They collected $3,158.06 yesterday—over a third of the day's total. They have already exceeded their objective, having collected $3,491.11 when only allotted $6,000.

Over 2,000 subscribers, or two-thirds of the subscribers to the Chest have been obtained by women canvassers, which gives some idea of the amount of work they have done. A standing vote of thanks to Miss Sara Spencer and Mrs. W. P. D. Pemberton, heads of C division, the women's division, was passed at a board of directors' meeting yesterday evening.

Statistics on other divisions:
A division—yesterday $4,050; to date $34,940; subscribers 182; 66 per cent of objective.
B division—yesterday $1,224; to date $3,392; subscribers 334; 56 per cent of objective.
C division—yesterday $3,158; to date $8,491; subscribers 2,000; 141 per cent of objective.
D division—yesterday $378; to date $1,220; subscribers 258; 23 per cent of objective.
E division—yesterday $494; to date $1,349; subscribers 117; 33 per cent of objective.

Heads of the Community Chest are still being called on to address meetings. Fred McGregor, joint campaign chairman, spoke to policemen of Victoria yesterday afternoon, while he and C. S. Henley spoke to the department managers in the City Hall later in the day.

Notes of the Legislature

Tomorrow Debate on Speech from Throne continues. Speakers: Alderman W. T. Straith, Liberal, Victoria; E. V. Finland, Conservative, Esquimalt; J. A. Paton, Conservative, Vancouver, Point Grey; L. A. Shepherd, C.C.F., Delta.

Yesterday's speakers: E. T. Kenney, Liberal, Skeena; W. J. Asselstine, Liberal, Atlin; Sam Guthrie, C.C.F., Cowichan-Newcastle; L. H. Eyres, Conservative, Chilliwack; Thomas King, Columbia.

"Bill" Asselstine, the mining man from Atlin, yesterday threw back into the teeth of Harold Winch, the young C.C.F. member from Vancouver, his suggestion that the government's road building programme was "legal bribery" for election purposes. The C.C.F. platform was full of the worst kind of bribes to the electorate because the members knew that, constitutionally, they could never carry them out.

Mr. Asselstine told the House about the country of real snow, up in the Big Missouri area, where they have a total fall of 65 feet during a winter.

Mr. Guthrie, who came back to the Legislature after 13 years to find it little changed with the old line parties scrapping about the same things, was given a very attentive hearing by both sides alike. He is a forceful speaker.

Missing from the gallery this year are the pictures of the King and Queen. The new full-length Coronation photos have not been received yet. Those of the late King and Queen Mary were removed months ago.

By special resolution the House added L. H. Eyres, Conservative, Chilliwack, to the committee on agriculture.

able representation of the province to the public for tourist purposes.

The new council will serve under a Bureau of Industrial and Tourist Development, one of three branches in the new department.

The other branches will be a Bureau of Economics and Statistics and a Bureau of Trade Extension. Each will have a director at the head.

In charge of the department will be a minister of the cabinet and deputy.

The statistics bureau will replace the old economic council, set up in 1934, which has been inoperative for the last two years except for the research branch under Dr. W. A. Carrothers, and is now to be repealed.

The bureau will have full powers as under the Public Inquiries Act to carry out statistical and economic investigations.

The trade extension bureau will deal with trade alone, developing markets and facilitating the production and export of provincial goods.

Labor Groups In New Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis's rebel Committee for Industrial Organization agreed today to discuss the question of which industries should have industrial unions.

This question involves the basic difference between the warring labor factions.

An anatomist points out that we use our teeth less than three hours a day, but early man probably ate whenever he could and kept his teeth much busier.

BRITISH AGENTS IN INSURGENT SPAIN

for discussion of the questions affecting the British and Spanish nationals and commercial interests."

The Premier said France had been fully informed of the negotiations.

Questions drew from the Prime Minister the announcement that Foreign Secretary Eden would make a "full statement" Monday on the situation.

Answering another question from the Labor leader, Mr. Chamberlain said there probably was "no precedent" for the existing situation.

COMMITTEE MEETS

LONDON—The full Spanish Nonintervention Committee was convened today to authorize Great Britain to solicit co-operation in Spain with withdrawal of foreign troops as London carried on commercial negotiations with the insurgents.

Great Britain, with her industries needing raw materials such as Spain's rich deposits of mercury, iron, copper and pyrites, was reported to have all but arrived at an agreement on trade with insurgent Spain.

Both London's most ardent pro-Franco newspaper, the Daily Mail, and the most enthusiastic pro-Valencia newspaper, the Daily Herald, said Great Britain was convinced Franco would win the war. The Herald said the government had "decided to accord de facto recognition to General Franco's government at the earliest possible moment," because it had decided Franco "is going to win."

The Daily Mail, owned by Lord Rothermere, said that "friendship with Franco's government is of course essential to British diplomacy in the new situation which is developing in the Mediterranean."

B.C. PLAN STRONG STOCK CONTROL METHODS

One amendment empowers the government to close a stock exchange for any period it thinks necessary. The onus of enforcing government regulations among stock exchange members is placed on the exchange and the government is given access to its records at all times.

MAY HALT SALES

Dealing with newspaper publicity, another amendment specifies that any news published about a mining company promotion must have with it the name of the person giving the information. If it is a company the name of the official must be given, and as long as the newspaper uses the name the report is privileged.

The government will have power to halt the sale of any security either on the stock exchange or outside of it.

requires him to do so in enforcing the act.

The government is empowered to publish a list of all stock salesmen registered to operate as well as those who have been suspended.

An old provision that a company which sold its stock to a broker was exempt from registering under the act is wiped out.

Prospectors are protected in a clause that the government may cancel an unfair agreement holding a prospector's stock in a newly promoted company in escrow.

Exempted from registration are benevolent companies forbidden by the terms of their charters to declare dividends.

A Warning To Be Heeded

LEGISLATORS NOW IN SESSION HERE will be doing less than their duty if they do not face the facts placed before them this week by Chief Forester Manning.

In forcing attention on the crisis that is just around the corner in our timber and lumber business, Mr. Manning is acting courageously and in the highest sense of his responsibility as a public servant. He warns that our great Douglas fir lumber industry will be definitely on the downhill grade within 15 years, that we are overcutting in our forest region regardless of species and that we are doing nothing effective in the way of restocking our cut-over lands, especially those on the coast which have been productive of the large timber. He urges the legislators to do something about it in order that our timber industries may be perpetuated and continue permanently not only as producers of private profit but as major sources of government revenue.

If the permanency of our forest industries is to be assured there must, as Mr. Manning points out, be a permanency of supply. The importance of assuring this should be apparent from the fact that last year the value of our forest industries products was $72,000,000, compared with $54,000,000 for mines and $46,000,000 for agriculture. Our Economic Council has reported that out of every dollar circulated in British Columbia by our primary industries, including all our manufacturing, 37 cents is derived from forest resources. This year the forests will again lead with an estimated value of some $80,000,000. Last year upwards of half the water-borne freight from our coast ports was made up of forest products. Wooden dollars slip into the pockets of every butcher, baker and candlestick maker in this province. So, none in this province can be without interest in the permanency of these forest industries.

Blinded by easy profits of the present from our natural resources, our temptation has been to ignore the future. We have before us the sad example of other countries which have been profligate with their natural resources. Let us profit by our knowledge of the results of their shortsightedness. Mr. Manning is doing his duty by drawing the attention of our legislators and the public to the facts. Facing them, our legislators must act. We pray that they may do so before it is too late.

Our Hospitals

DELEGATES TO THE ANNUAL MEETING of the British Columbia Hospitals Association yesterday heard an inspiring and informative address from Dr. H. H. Murphy, radiologist at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He explained the meaning of "hospital service" and the beneficial results that would accrue to the general public under a more highly-developed system of practical "hospital partnership."

Dr. Murphy recounted in language which all could understand some of the sources of revenue upon which the curative establishments of the province depend, the large amount of service which hospitals are called upon to perform without remuneration, paying unstinted tribute to the many private citizens who play their part in the present operative form of service to the hospitals. He described a form of "hospital partnership" which might be so expanded not only to improve the existing high type of service but to simplify hospital financing and rid it of some of its more difficult problems.

In Victoria and throughout the province we have curative institutions which can hold their own with similar establishments all over the world. But, unfortunately, the work they do often is insufficiently understood, or too often taken for granted.

The citizen, for example, who has been fortunate enough in his mental and physical well-being to require nothing beyond merely elementary medical treatment in his own home—who has never been confined to a hospital and experienced for himself what institutional treatment means—is apt to indulge in an occasional "kick." In some instances this may be justified; but the majority of the complaints either are the result of sheer ignorance or the product of a mental outlook which might be improved by a day or so of ministrations from the efficient and conscientious people who work in the hospitals.

What An Escape

IT IS REPORTED THAT A GERMAN EXPLORER, who, after years spent in the remote solitudes and below lost horizons, has been inquiring on his first brush with what now goes by the name of civilization if there's a war on anywhere.

A wag in one of the London dailies treats himself to the comment that "we should like to go to sleep for a year or two and then ask if the next war is on," and "if it is we should like to go to sleep again for ever."

If the German explorer has reached Berlin by this time he will have to submit himself to a lot of introductions and be tutored in the many changed ways of personal comportment. Woe betide him if he makes for the American bar in the Hotel Bristol or struts along Unter den Linden without the "helling" sign!

A Bad Spot of Road

SAYS MR. G. G. McGEER, K.C., M.P., of British Columbia's section of the Pacific Highway: The worst 30 miles between Vancouver and Mexico! Says The Vancouver Daily Province, noting Mr. McGeer's comments: "The highway from Blaine to the gates of squalid Tijuana is a supremely good highway, while the stretch from the Fraser River to Blaine is not even tolerably good... hence the comparison."

Our contemporary interposes the reminder that "the construction of the new highway bridge at New Westminster was undertaken because it was felt the old bridge with its swing span and bottle-neck was the weakest link in the tourist highway to the south." The new bridge will be opened on November 15, and "its adequacy and its splendor will serve only to accentuate the inadequacy and the poor condition of most of the highway stretching south to the international boundary."

Now, The Daily Province has been insisting in season and out of season that the Pattullo government is spending too much money. But it postulates that "having built the bridge, the provincial government can hardly do less now than build a highway that will make it possible for the bridge to render full service for which it was designed and erected."

There is much merit in The Province's argument. It is one of the newspapers of British Columbia which never loses an opportunity to give the Pattullo government a verbal spanking for what it considers its too profligate spending. In this instance, however, we shall expect it to urge the government to take its suggestion to heart and transform these "worst 30 miles" into a stretch of wide and unblemished concrete.

It might mention also a more substantial grant for island road improvements.

A Canadian Flag

OVER A PERIOD OF YEARS, AND IN practically every part of Canada from the Pacific to the Atlantic, public and semi-public bodies, service organizations of both male and female membership, have frequently discussed the subject of a distinctive Canadian flag. It has cropped up from time to time in the Parliament at Ottawa and in the provincial legislatures. It has been selected as suitable "material" for treatment in the editorial columns of the newspapers and as a good topic for magazine articles.

The fact that has emerged from all these discussions and profligate writings is the plain one that Canada has no flag of her own, that she ought to get herself one without more ado, that until she does she will lag behind—although she is senior Dominion next to Great Britain—Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the Irish Free State, all of which parts of the Empire have their own distinctive emblem.

Designs by the hundred have been submitted and the pile will continue to increase until action is taken. But for some unaccountable reason as soon as this subject is broached in Parliament the wee small voice of objection and a large but invisible undercurrent of some unexplainable suspicion are heard and felt. We can not see why Parliament always seems to fight shy of any definite move to give Canada what the vast majority of her people want.

Notes

Things that do most to make us dissatisfied with life are hate, envy, strife and new models.

As soon as the geologists find out why the bottom dropped out of that mid-western farm, they are going to find out why it has fallen out of the stock market.

If the Nine-power Conference does not make headway pretty soon, its functions as far as China is concerned will strangely resemble those of a coroner's jury.

An editorial pundit and columnist whose views and advice on world affairs are internationally quoted has been sued by his wife for divorce. Apparently he knows just how to manage everything in the world except his home.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr., who was graduated from college at 23 and became a vice-president of General Motors shortly thereafter, is made chairman of U.S. Steel at 38—proving what a young man can accomplish by grit, perseverance and being the son of a Morgan partner.

MR. BENNETT'S VENOM AND THE CONSTITUTION

From Toronto Daily Star
With Mr. Bennett's view that the constitution of Canada should be changed, if and when changed, by representatives of the people after a great national conference, most people may find themselves in concurrence. But most people also will regret his unjust and unseemly reference to Chief Justice Rowell as "one of the most violent partisans" and to Mr. Duff as "the most violent partisan journalist the country has produced," who has made scurrilous attacks upon public men. The records of these men, who are members of the Royal Commission inquiring into the necessity for constitutional changes, are so well known that they stand in need of no defence.

The venom which Mr. Bennett brings into play with reference to the delicate question of Dominion-provincial relations is something quite different from the vigor that an opposition leader should display. It suggests that defeat has embittered his spirit and lessened his capacity for public usefulness, which is something that The Star deprecates quite as much as Mr. Bennett's own admirers within the party will deplore it.

The Star on many occasions has spoken appreciatively of Mr. Bennett's services to the country and hopes to do so in future, but it regrets that he does not approach our great constitutional problem in a calmer and more objective spirit.

GETTING ALONG

THE GOVERNMENT, having in mind a budget for next Wednesday, has begun to prod along the House's opening debate a bit. It is gentle prodding, however, and the five speakers crowded into Wednesday afternoon were given all the time they wanted.

It was a country members' field day, with nothing pretentious about it, but with one or two flashes of homely eloquence and some plain thinking on the problems of the plain people. The House is looking forward to something a little more spectacular today as Mr. Telford, its great unknown quantity, gets under way.

Mr. Kenney of Skeena, opened the afternoon with one of his brisk, quickly-spoken speeches which have a sharp, waspish quality about them. He has developed rapidly from a back-bencher into future Liberal cabinet material, not alone by natural ability but by a passionate loyalty to his party.

The government has not thought it necessary to reply itself to any of the attacks upon it, giving the impression that they aren't worth replying to. But it has inspired its followers and equipped them with pretty obvious cabinet material to hurl at its enemies. Mr. Kenney had some of it, and hurled it with good marksmanship.

Somehow nothing can keep Work and Wages out of this House. They keep stalking through the speeches, Liberal as well as Opposition, like Banquo's ghost. To Mr. Kenney, Work and Wages have been achieved by the industrial improvement of these times—by larger sales of lumber and to increasing mines production—but Mr. Kenney argues that if the government is to be blamed for bad times it should have some credit for good ones even if it is not entirely responsible for the world's recovery.

RACONTEUR

BILL ASSELSTINE came to this House four years ago famed as a miner and as a raconteur at stag parties. He is a different man now, far more useful to the taxpayers and his constituents. People who have only heard his imitation of an Italian fruit dealer explaining the New Deal would hardly have recognized him Tuesday when he suddenly burst into a rattling good speech on mining, with only one mild story to illustrate it.

Mr. Asselstine belongs to the old-fashioned school of economics. None of the new and fancy stuff for him. If the Socialists want to take over the resources of the country, said he, let them go ahead and do it. Let them take up land or timber or mining prospects anywhere in the province and go to work. That is his idea of Socialism.

And talking of election bribery, as alleged by the C.C.F., Mr. Asselstine had seen no bribery in history to compare with the promises of the Socialists who knew perfectly well they could carry them out under the limitations of Canadian law. And Mr. Asselstine rapped this down the Opposition's throat with extraordinary vigor in tones that have thundered through many a mining camp and bunkhouse from Atlin to Hudson's Bay.

Good old Sam Guthrie hasn't changed much since he left the House a dozen years ago. His flaming red hair has gone white, but his energy and his real passion for the rights of the poor people haven't dimmed a bit—a natural, untutored orator, with a stirring Scottish burr and an obvious blunt honesty which always held the House whenever he spoke in the old days.

He spoke well after his long holiday, wringing his hands together in excess of earnestness, glaring at the government, boldly defying the whole capitalist system, quoting Disraeli and the modern economists and making a much better speech, this working man, than most of our college graduates.

CAPITALISM

TWENTY YEARS AGO, Mr. Guthrie was predicting that capitalism would go into decline. He predicts it again, with more certainty than ever. The Liberal government can't do anything to save it, says he—the Liberal government which promised Work and Wages and then put the unemployed in "lousy jails." And he pauses to quote the Premier's speeches of 1933, and the promises of former Attorney-General Sloan, "who has lately got wages if not work."

Away, says Mr. Guthrie, with all the twaddle of this debate, all the tommyrot. The system is dying on its feet, can never employ the people, must make way for the Socialist state. Mr. Guthrie gets wound up, hands clutched together, eyes flashing, the House listens and likes it.

VALLEY MAN

MR. AYRES, of Chilliwack, is a sudden change from Mr. Barrow, who was a kind of institution in these premises. The new member is young, crisp, soldierly, likeable. In his maiden speech he attempted nothing spectacular, confined himself to the problems of his own people in the Fraser Valley and made out a strong case for them. He should be a useful member to the Conservative Party.

Mr. Tom King, of Columbia, is a friendly, informal soul, who talks to the House exactly as he would gossip over the counter with a customer in his store in Golden. Delightful and barnyard-flavored was his account of his youth when he walked to the pasture a mile and a half to bring home the cow, and took her back again twice a day, all for 25 cents a month. The cow, by the way, gave 6 cents' worth of milk at each point of issue.

All this was very nice and the House was going home in the best of humor when suddenly Mr. Maitland and Mr. Pattullo met in considerable annoyance. Mr. Maitland wanted a lot of information about road expenditures. Mr. Pattullo said they were recorded in the public accounts. Mr. Maitland said they weren't. Mr. Pattullo said the Opposition was wasting the government's time with innumerable questions. The little row ended obscurely with Mr. Speaker promising to decide later whether the government had to give Mr. Maitland what he wanted or not.

Personal Touch In Charity and Community Chest

AMONG criticisms of the Community Chest, we frequently hear mentioned the loss of personal touch. If you act the part of the good neighbor to one who is suffering from cold or hunger, the feeling of gratitude may be an advantage to both parties, but one condition is presupposed—that you have the means. This is less likely if your means have been wasted.

The writer has often thought of a remark made to him by Mr. Alvah Trowbridge, then president of the American Bankers' Association. He stated that he had jeered at a guest for her connection with the Associated Charities, to be challenged by her offer: "If you had had my experience, I doubt if you would be so skeptical. Suppose you let me investigate one of your beneficiaries."

"Very well," said Mr. Trowbridge, "there is Mrs. Smith. You can investigate her to your heart's content. We have known her all our lives, and every one in town gives her food, clothing and fuel."

Mrs. Smith was investigated, with the result that her income from invested securities was shown to be greater than the president of the American Bankers' Association salary scale.

Another instance comes to mind: The writer's father once had the distribution of a large sum of money for charitable purposes. Such inroads upon his time and sympathy were made by appeals the merits of which he could not know, that he deposited funds with Mr. Waldron, for 50 years a pillar of relief agencies in the city of Boston. Mr. Waldron stated that of 1,000 cards given out by my father, introducing the bearer to him, only one was even presented, and the city missionary knew all about that man right away.

Doubtless it is similar experiences that have led the 400 cities to adopt the Community Chest. It is claimed by some that the conditions in Victoria are different, but surely the burden of proof rests upon those who advance that view. The first case mentioned above occurred in a town of only 10,000 inhabitants.

Another criticism is that the Chest was tried before and failed, because many organizations felt that they could secure more funds by direct appeal than through combination with others.

It may, perhaps, be a safer prediction, however, that if the present appeal results in ample funds, organizations now outside will gradually come in, for the reason that individual appeals through the mail or by personal solicitation may be met increasingly with the statement that all such gifts are made through the Community Chest.

There remains still another criticism: that government should take care of the needy. One must be an optimist indeed to expect that government can eliminate the need of non-official agencies for promoting community welfare—witness the sums spent in the United States and the conditions obtaining there. But even if such a belief were warranted, is it not chimerical to expect that such government aid will be forthcoming at once? If your answer is No, suppose you try moving the government to immediate action. In the meantime, what? Shall we let our people freeze and starve?

H. H. WILLCOX,
Uplands, Victoria.

POLICE COMMISSION

To the Editor:—The present system of appointing a Police Commission to represent the City of Victoria is a debatable procedure. In that either the chief magistrate, the magistrate, and a county court judge might work hand and glove with the police force and pass sentence on any accused coming before them.

The proposal to compose the commission of the chief magistrate and two aldermen is indeed highly debatable, in that there is no authority for any such move vested in the city council.

It seems to me the voters of the City of Victoria should have the right to vote on the question as to whether they wish annually to elect at least two of the commissioners. If my memory serves me correctly one of the strongest planks in the present chief magistrate's election platform was to the effect that the first thing he would do if elected was to see to it that the people should have the right to express their opinion as to how a police commission should be formed.

The contention is that the people should not have the right to elect a police commission. Then why vest in them the right to elect a mayor and council at all? And if the right is to be usurped from the people as to a police commission, why not the whole council a police commission, they being duly elected representatives of the people?

The Surgeon's Knife At Work On Decadent Humanity

From a Correspondent

THOUGH one feels infinitely sorry that war, with all its cruelties and inevitable suffering, should have been the instrument necessary to awaken Spain and China from their medievalism and lethargy, it is, nevertheless, necessary that mankind advances in accordance with evolution. War, of course, is not essential and is not the desire of nature or will of God, but is brought about by the blindness or wilfulness of man.

Take the case of Spain: For centuries it has been feudalistic and backward, refusing, or too indifferent, to move with the times. China, also, drifted along in a sort of semi-stupor, too indolent to capitalize on its heritage of centuries of culture and knowledge. Floods, famines and pestilences came repeatedly through the centuries; yet no lessons were learned and taken advantage of. The result in the case of each was inevitable. Along comes a vigorous, more progressive group or nation and the peoples of these nations were forced, in sheer self-defence, to quicken their minds and use their dormant powers and, instead of scattered groups, became welded into a solid unit against a foe.

Out of all apparent evil, cometh good, and so, from the Spanish debacle and the rape of China, will emerge an awakened people, with the shackles of the past forever broken and their faces turned toward a better and more progressive system of living; the medieval ideas gone and their collective soul reborn.

Cruel as is war, it is often the surgeon's knife cutting away the dead or decaying tissues in order that life may function better and fuller.

What applies to Spain and China and did so in the case of Russia; applies equally so to all nations. If nothing be done to change our way of life so that the inequalities and injustices be removed and men receive a fairer share of the fruits of the earth and of their toil, then will nature use the knife to remove the canker, and the operation may not be pleasant.

In a universe of infinite law and order, injustice and inhumanity is foreign and abhorrent and of necessity must and will be cast off.

Let us not fool ourselves into believing that though such things are happening to Spain and China, have happened in Russia, as well to nations and empires in the past, we will escape the results of our folly. Effect follows cause as inevitably as night follows day, and if we would escape the whirlwind we must cease to sow to the wind.

FREAK LEGISLATION
To the Editor:—Under section 105 of the Placer Act, a gold commissioner can issue a lease over any lands in the province not covered by a building or orchard, and up to a period of 20 years.

This gives the right of entry and occupation, with the right to take away and destroy the surface of such land. If such an act is constitutional, then there is no such thing as trespass, nor does anyone own land in B.C. The Placer Act makes one man the law, the judge and jury.

ANOTHER MR. SUTTON DISCLAIMS
To the Editor:—May I enjoy the privilege of using your columns to suggest to Bert Sutton that in his future literary outbursts he would save considerable embarrassment to people of the same name if he would print his address or some other further identification. In the meantime, disclaiming any knowledge of the writer or letter, I trust the publication of this note will relieve me from further annoyance on this matter.

What a break for the children to have a Radiantfire in the house. Then—no matter what the weather—at the touch of a match there's a glowing fire for their comfort and safety. In "wet feet" time, too, and the days when they come home from outdoors shivering with cold, it's a great convenience and a worth while investment to have a Radiantfire ready for instant use—a way to prevent sickness and save medical expense.

HUMPHREY RADIANTFIRE

No. 401 Radiantfire

gives you healthful, comforting heat, makes your rooms cosy and more livable. Have you a cold room in your house, a sitting-room or a bedroom? A Radiantfire is just the thing to turn it into the warmest room in the house—no fireplace is needed. Shown here are two smart models which will fit into any room and add to its beauty. The cost of purchase and operation is low; $24.95 puts one right into your home. This price includes installation on the first floor of any private home; for the upper part of the house there is a slight additional charge. See the display at our Douglas Street Store, or phone G-7121, Gas Department, for full particulars.

Claim "Social" Drinking Wrong

Greetings were sent to Mrs. Dixie Gaves, the first woman member of the United States Senate and a temperance worker, by the members of Rockland Park, W.C.T.U., from their meeting, held at the home of Mrs. C. Pettigrew, Pandora Avenue.

A paper prepared by Mrs. M. Northam of Francis Willard Union, for the Y.P.S. of the church, telling the aim and object of the W.C.T.U., was read and endorsed for the educational programme: "Reasons Why Alcoholic Beverages Should Not Be Used" was the topic.

Mrs. J. P. Hicks quoted Dr. Hugh Dobson to the effect that women should develop Christian social customs in the practice of hospitality and refuse to serve liquor socially. Mrs. F. W. Laing quoted Dr. Rosehow of the Mayo Clinic, and Mrs. Pettigrew quoted Rev. George Falls of Toronto Central Presbytery of the United Church on the harm wrought by drinking liquor.

Mrs. L. A. Moody spoke of the menace of the drinking driver. Mrs. Booth also quoted Dr. George Little, who asked: "Does the use of liquor increase the good reputation of a preacher? Do school boards demand drinking teachers?" Mrs. George Holt read excerpts from Tidings. Mrs. F. W. Laing conducted the devotion, and Mrs. John Hall was in the chair.

VICTORIA Y. P. COUNCIL
All United Church Young People's Societies in the city are requested to submit brief reports of their year's activities, complete lists of their officers, and copies of their tentative programmes to the corresponding secretary, Miss Beatrice Hollins, 936 St. Patrick Street, as soon as possible.

The ladies of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will hold a bazaar in the English Bakery Hall, Fort Street, Saturday, at 11.30 a.m. There will be plain and fancy sewing, knitted goods, novelties, home cooking and candy stalls, afternoon teas. In the evening there will be court whist at 8 o'clock.

A Chubby Little Chap

James Alan Wickes, aged seven months, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wickes, 1766 Albert Avenue, and grandson of Mrs. T. Wickes, 1119 Chapman Street.

Society

Yesterday afternoon a successful silver tea was held at the Belmont United Church Manse. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums. Yellow tapers and silver candlesticks decorated the tea tables. Assisting Mrs. Bryce Wallace at the tea urns were Mrs. James Calderhead and Mrs. G. A. Butler, while Mrs. John Hall and Mrs. S. Parfitt helped served. Many ladies came in for tea, and the afternoon was voted a decided success.

Mrs. A. B. Tripp was hostess at a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday evening, given in honor of Miss Edna Teagle, a December bride-to-be. The rooms were decorated in autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. The gifts were concealed in a pretty container with yellow and green as the prevailing colors. The invited guests included the Misses Joan Cowdry, Dora Lewis and Doris Hooper, Mrs. G. Leckie, Mrs. A. H. Steer, Mrs. D. A. Tripp, Mrs. Blair Reid, Mrs. M. O'Neill, Miss Eileen O'Neill, Miss Patsy Fatt, Mrs. R. Kingston, Miss M. Kingston, Miss Doris Kitt, Mrs. J. McLennan, Mrs. W. Jeeves, Mrs. D. Williams, Miss Betty Teagle, Mrs. T. Teagle, Mrs. A. McMichael and Mrs. Elsie Peters. Court whist was played, Mrs. G. Leckie and Miss M. Kingston winning the prizes. A buffet supper was served.

Miss Dorothea Scott, who is to be married shortly, was the guest of honor when Miss Anna Balnave entertained at a miscellaneous shower last night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Balnave, 890 Lampson Street. On her arrival the bride-to-be was presented with a fragrant corsage bouquet of pink roses and African daisies by Miss Balnave, while the many attractive gifts were presented to her by little Shirley Fildew. Games were played, the winners being Miss Jean Cameron and Miss Barbara Scott. Supper was served from a lace-covered table prettily decorated with silver vases of South African daisies and centred with an ice cream wedding cake, on which was posed a miniature bride and groom. The guests included Miss Dorothea Scott, Mrs. W. Scott, Miss Barbara Scott, Miss Jean Cameron, Mrs. H. G. Field, Miss Ann Field, Miss Dorothy Hornbrook, Mrs. L. Simmons, Mrs. Richard Burnett, Mrs. Earl Conroy and Miss Mabel Thorp.

Complimenting Miss Edna Ashton, a bride-to-be of this month, Mrs. A. Tudor and Mrs. C. W. Brooks entertained on Monday evening at the home of the latter on Forbes Street. The rooms were decorated with autumn foliage and bronze and yellow chrysanthemums, and the many lovely gifts of linen were concealed beneath a decorated umbrella in gold and brown. Upon their arrival, Miss Ashton and her mother were presented by little Louise Naysmith with corsages of pink roses tied with gold ribbons. Contests were enjoyed by the guests, the winners being Mrs. A. Millar and Mrs. H. Paver. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with autumn flowers and foliage in silver vases and matching candles in silver holders. The invited guests were Mesdames W. Ashton, J. Stephenson, Strawford, H. Laing, J. Chow, A. Gough, H. Paver, F. Rawnsley, E. Headley, A. Cook, V. A. Williams, D. J. MacLennan, W. F. Bridge, A. Millar, R. Eastham, J. Naysmith, H. Thompson, W. Adie, E. Rogers, J. Garner, Lewis and the Misses M. Jones, D. A. Brooks and L. Naysmith.

OBVIA CLUB
The Oak Bay Y.P.S. used as their theme on Tuesday night "The Cats' Convention." As each one arrived they were given their distinctive button and placed into tribes of black cats, white cats, Manx cats and Persian cats. The convention was opened by Chairman Bert Simpson of the black tribe, who introduced one of his mates, Gilbert Gibson, who spoke briefly on Halloween.

Contests included cat ninepins, cat scam, cat shuffle quick and cat-guessing contest, at the conclusion of which the Manx cats were found to be the winners, followed very closely by the black tribe. The players taking part for the winning team were: Edna Mae Bell, Nancy Boyd, Miss Johnson, Ina Robertson, Peggy Watson and Jim Robson, each receiving a small prize for their efforts.

Next came the ball of fate, which the cats tossed around, undoing the string until his or her fortune was reached. A ghost story followed, with Ken Wilson and Bert Simpson doing the honors. The cats then congregated to sing their national anthem, "Three Blind Mice," after which refreshments of pumpkin pie and milk were served by Jean Alexander, Nancy Hepburn and Mabel Simpson.

Sunday night the Oak Bay Y.P.S. are in charge of the interdenominational sing song at the Y.M.C.A., when Jim Robson and Muriel Patterson will be the soloists. The theme for next week's meeting will be "Whither Bound?" It was brought to the attention of the society that the James Bay Y.P.S. were re-organizing, and it was moved that a letter of encouragement be sent to them.

News of Clubwomen

To ensure their publication, reports of meetings of organizations or groups should be sent in within two days of their happening. Notices intended for this column on Saturday must be written and handed in not later than Friday.

The annual meeting of the Liberal Women's Forum has been postponed indefinitely.

First Spiritualist Church will have a silver tea in the Sons of England Hall, 1216 Broad Street, on Friday afternoon, from 2.30 until 5. The tea-cup readers will be Mrs. T. Allan and Mrs. K. Youson.

The executive of the British Columbia Registered Nurses' Association will take over the regular monthly meeting of the Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association, which will be held in the Nurses' Home, Royal Jubilee Hospital, tomorrow evening at 8.

Dr. W. J. Knox of Kelowna, president of the B.C. Liberal Association, and Mrs. Knox, who were here for the opening of the Legislature, are the guests this week of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Boucher, Vancouver.

The Royal Bride Junior Chapter, I.O.D.E., will meet on Saturday afternoon at 2.15 at headquarters, Union Building. All members are asked to be present, as final plans for the dance to be held on November 19 will be discussed at 3. Miss Aimee O. Heddie will give a talk on her visit to England and the Coronation festivities.

Members and friends of the Oak Bay United Church choir met on Wednesday for a social evening in the church parlors. Several games were played and prizes awarded to Miss Edna Burgess, Miss Doreen Briggs, Miss D. Baillie and Mr. S. J. McDonald. Refreshments were served from an attractively-arranged table, and were followed by a "graveyard scene" by Mr. W. L. Patterson. At the close of the evening the president, Mr. H. I. Curtis, expressed his gratification at the presence of a number of old friends of the choir, also to Mr. W. H. Ruffel, former choir leader, to Rev. F. R. Dredge, and to Mr. L. Partington, present choir leader. There were 35 present.

The Second Mile Club met Monday evening, with Mrs. Richardson presiding. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. McGill, whose theme was "Discipline." A rummage sale, to be convened by Mrs. Waller, will be held on Wednesday, November 17, at the Northwestern Creamery Building, Broad Street. In answer to an appeal from Jackson Avenue for Christmas gifts, members are asked to bring donations to the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Middleton, Quadra Street, Tuesday, December 7. The guest speaker was Mrs. Freeman, whose inspiring talk on "Victorious Living" was much appreciated. Much merriment was caused by the holding of an auction sale, the proceeds of which will be used to augment the Christmas funds. Volunteers in charge of Mrs. Bishop have kindly offered to tag for Poppy Day on Saturday, November 6. Refreshments were served after the meeting, Mrs. Eberts and Mrs. Middleton presiding at the urns.

Modern Etiquette

1. May a note of condolence be written on a typewriter?
 2. Should a business man whose wife is away dictate his letters to her?
 3. Is it good taste to begin a business letter with "Dear Friend?"
 4. Should one end a business letter in which a favor is asked with "Thanking you kindly?"
 5. Should one close a letter to a newly made acquaintance with "Lovingly?"
- What would you do if—
A friend fails to answer your last letter—
(a) Wait until he answers before feeling free to write again.
(b) Write and "call him down" for neglecting you?
(c) Write him a newsy letter and ask him some questions?
- Answers
1. It is much more personal if written by hand.
2. No.
3. No.
4. No, say, "I should appreciate this very much."
5. No. "Sincerely yours" would be more appropriate under the circumstances.

Noted Scottish Feminist Dies

LONDON—A woman barrister who devoted her life to the feminist cause has died in Edinburgh. She was Miss Chrystal Macmillan, who nearly 30 years ago appeared in the House of Lords to plead in a case concerning the right of Scottish women graduates to a parliamentary vote. She was president of the Open Door International for the Economic Emancipation of the Woman Worker, and on the executive committees of countless women's societies. When Antwerp fell in 1914 she was responsible for the first consignment of food from this country for Belgian refugees in Holland.

"I'M BETTER THAN EVER!" SAYS THE NEW 1937 RINSO

WAIT UNTIL YOU TRY ME TODAY, MRS. ADAMS, I'VE BEEN IMPROVED—AND I'M BETTER THAN EVER

I'VE HEARD ALL ABOUT YOU, RINSO. WOMEN EVERYWHERE SAY YOU GIVE 25 TO 50% MORE SUDS

THAT'S RIGHT! AND MY SUDS ARE MUCH FASTER—ACTING AND LONGER-LASTING NOW, TOO

WELL, ALL I CAN SAY IS THAT YOU ALWAYS WERE A MARVELLOUS SOAP. I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE YOU COULD BE MADE ANY BETTER...

LATER

THERE! I TOLD YOU SO! DID YOU EVER SEE SUCH RICH SUDS IN ALL YOUR LIFE? AND I SOAKED EVEN YOUR DIRTIEST CLOTHES CLEAN IN 10 MINUTES WITHOUT SCRUBBING OR BOILING

IT'S TRUE! YOU'RE BETTER THAN EVER! I'VE NEVER SEEN SUCH WHITE SPOTLESS CLOTHES

COLOURFUL COTTON PRINTS WASHED 125 TIMES IN MY LIVELY SUDS COME OUT PRACTICALLY LIKE NEW

THIS New 1937 Rinsos are richer, longer-lasting and faster-acting than ever—even in hardest water. And what magic these suds perform! In tubs they soak clothes at least 5 shades whiter than ordinary soaps without hard scrubbing. In washers, they get clothes the snowiest and brightest looking imaginable. And in the dishpan they get dishes, pots and pans sparkling clean, without a trace of greasy film. Rinsos is recommended by the makers of 24 famous Canadian washers. You'll be delighted with the economy of the New 1937 Rinsos—a little goes so far. Easy as ever on hands. Most women buy the big handy household package.

URGES EARLIER AGE PENSIONS

E. T. Kenney, Skeena, Says B.C. Should Be More Lenient in Many Cases

Irrespective of what part of Canada they were from, persons of the necessary age should be granted old-age pensions in British Columbia, E. T. Kenney, Liberal, Skeena, said in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, when speaking in the debate in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

The present setup, he said, was most unsatisfactory. If an elderly person had lived in the province only 15 years, he or she could not obtain the pension.

He presented the case of a number of old men in his riding who lived in cabins and small houses and had no money. They objected to going to institutions for care and he said they would be much happier with a little money and their own cabins, where they could amuse themselves, and do their own gardening.

Mr. Kenney spoke of the proposed amalgamation of the Yukon Territory with British Columbia. He said he did not believe in annexation as he favored the rights of minorities, but he was sure, if the people of the Yukon were told by the federal government they would have to become unorganized territory, like the Northwest Territories, or amalgamate with British Columbia, they would have no hesitation in joining this province.

He spoke of the difficulty of the prospectors in the north communicating with Victoria and said the government would be well advised to put in a small assay office at Prince Rupert.

The Skeena member spoke of the advisability of British Columbia accepting settlers from the drought areas of the prairie provinces. He knew of 40 families, he said, with the necessary machinery and stock and years of experience, willing to come to British Columbia if only financially able. In the Bulkley Valley, he said, were some of the choicest farming properties in the province. He said the government would be well advised to contact other governments concerned in an effort to bring these prairie farmers into this province. He said they would make fine settlers and were farmers in the real sense of the word.

STORIES IN STAMPS

KINGDOM FOR A WEALTHY WOMAN

Beau Brummell of Europe's modern rulers, His Majesty King George VI, mounted the throne in September, 1928, and has been having his troubles ever since.

Zog's troubles are chiefly those of modernizing his mountainous. He started this campaign almost as soon as he took the royal sceptre. America, he announced, was to be his model. So Zog began by voting himself an American salary of $50,000 a year. Next, he imported a 40-piece American jazz band for the palace.

So far, so good. But then Zog indicated he wanted a wife with a western background, an American, if possible. She must be a thinker, he announced; must be personally attractive and, finally, she must have an income of at least $1,000,000 a year.

Hardly had the word spread through the little state when revolution broke out. And it has been breaking out ever since. The Albanians, Moslems, don't and won't accept the idea of a western wife. Thus far they've won the battle. But Zog is determined. Meanwhile, with Italy lending the monarch a few million francs a year, the situation has become even more complicated. Zog is shown here on a 1930 stamp.

Her son, King Edward VII, inherited his mother's love for dogs, and her merciful attitude toward them. He induced the English Kennel Club to forbid cruel cropping of dogs' ears and to amend canine conditions in other ways. In Edward's funeral procession, his little heartbroken terrier, Caesar, marched close behind his master's coffin.

King George V had a splendid kennel of "Clumber" spaniels at his Sandringham home, and exhibited these and his Labradors at the big dogshows. His constant companion, everywhere, was his fox terrier. Every member of the present British King's family owns at least one chum dog. Michael Chance wrote of this royal family: "They are owners who not only love their dogs, but who show them consideration, as well, and make them happy." (Copyright, 1937, McNaught Syndicate)

ANDREW and IMOGENE

By ROE FULKERSON

"I bet you are thinking about something to eat!" said Imogene. "Umhuh," assented Andrew dreamily. "Anything I can get for you? I always like to have you tell me what you want to eat."

"It's no use," sighed Andrew. "I could try."

"Alas, no. It can't be done. There are a lot of things missing—mud, roasting ear husks, wood fire, goggle-eyed perch, chickens and small boys."

"What on earth are you talking about?" demanded Imogene. "Gustatorial delights, big league eats, the best foods on earth!" sighed Andrew. "I was thinking of one time just about dusk on a little river running around the base of a mountain where I arrived late in the afternoon and made camp by putting a lean-to of cedar branches on a cross pole laid in two forked saplings driven into the ground. Just as it was getting dark, Puffy Moore and I started fishing and caught about half a dozen goggle-eyed perch."

"Earlier in the afternoon, we had robbed a cornfield of half a dozen roasting ears. Pulling the shucks back from the ears we put the fish in place of the ears and roasted them in the red hot coals and ashes. Then we boiled the corn and ate the fish and corn together."

"I have had fillet of sole, barbecued mullet, pompano, white bait and mountain trout, but never do I hope to have such fish again."

"Two days later, a luckless chicken from a neighboring farm strayed near camp, and by quick work, Puffy knocked it over with a stick and we dispatched it. We cleaned the chicken and, leaving all its feathers on, we wrapped it in the red clay of the neighborhood until it was a large ball, and this we rolled into the fire."

"The clay soon baked hard, but it kept in all the juice, all the sweetness and all the meatiness of that chicken. When we broke off the clay, the feathers and the skin of the chicken came off with it and left us a small chicken worth fighting over."

"I have had chicken with Smithfield ham and mushrooms under glass. I have eaten fried chicken all over the south, and I have had chicken with noodles in New England, but there was never a chicken like that one."

"On this same trip, we found a bar in the river which was almost covered with mussels. We also found an old road scraper nearby, from which the wood had rotted away. We turned it over and built a fire under it, and when the steel top had become almost red hot we laid our gathered mussels on it and left them there until they opened up. Then we picked them up one by one, replacing each with a fresh one. I recall that we ate far into the night, and then crept under the lean-to and slept like the pigs we were."

"Since that time, I have eaten oysters in every form in Baltimore. I have had the tiny miniature ones of the Pacific Coast. I have had oysters Rockefeller in New Orleans, but no bivalve I have ever eaten tasted as good as those fresh water-mussels cooked on an old road scraper."

"Then, too, I recall—" interrupted Imogene. "Haven't what?" asked Andrew, coming out of his reverie. "That boyhood appetite!" laughed Imogene. "That's not it! I have that all right, but I haven't goggle-eyed perch in corn husks; I haven't spring chicken in a clay ball, and I haven't roasted mussels!"

Hospitals Must Show Deficits

General Institutions Cannot Operate on Present Finances Says Dr. Murphy

"The general hospital of today that is carrying between 35 and 50 per cent charity work and properly maintaining its equipment it is showing a deficit every year," said Dr. H. H. Murray, radiologist of the Jubilee Hospital, during a luncheon address yesterday to the B.C. Hospitals' Association convention.

Dr. Murphy spoke on "Hospital Problems," centering his remarks around the theme that the hospitals had a definite service to provide which must be provided at all costs if the hospital was to serve its proper purpose in the community.

The general hospital, he said, existed by the existence of true partners. Those partners were the board of directors, the provincial and municipal governments. It relied on three sources of income: donations from private individuals and charitable organizations, patients' fees and government grants.

NEED GOVERNMENT AID

Patients' fees, he said, covered not more than one-third to one-half of the per diem cost of the institution. And since the board of directors could not budget for what donations it was to receive during a year, it was in a position where it had to rely on the other two partners to meet the remaining one-half to two-thirds of its income through their grants.

He did not think the boards could possibly do more than they were doing, and he could foresee only an increase in the contributions to be made by the government partners in the hospital. Even if the much-discussed social legislation was forthcoming, Dr. Murphy did not see any immediate relief offered by that in the form of increased revenue from patients.

In reference to the work of hospital directors, Dr. Murphy felt there was no greater honor which could be paid a man than to be appointed to a hospital directorate.

He urged the appointment of three committees by the hospital association. The first he felt should be named to deal with the Workmen's Compensation Board and other government bodies of that nature with which hospitals came in contact.

The second, he thought, there should be a nursing committee of the association which would look after working conditions for the nurses and take up such questions as the nurses' eight-hour day.

He advocated the setting up in Victoria of a legislative committee which would work in close alliance with the provincial government in the drafting and preparing of such social legislation as health insurance and other matters affecting hospitals.

The convention delegates were the guests of the Jubilee Hospital board at the luncheon, and F. E. Winslow, chairman of the board, presided.

Charges Blame In Mine Tragedy

Island C.C.F. Member Raises Beban Disaster In House

Declaring the mines department responsible, through negligence, for the Beban mine tragedy, pleading for three amendments in Workmen's Compensation regulations, demanding rigid enforcement of the Semi-monthly Payment of Wages Act which he said was being violated, steps to curb logging fatalities and urging assistance for farmers and encouragement instead of discouragement for relief people to work, Sam Guthrie, C.C.F., Cowichan-Newcastle, delivered a forceful address in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday.

Mr. Guthrie held the mines department at fault in the Beban disaster, which took three lives because, he charged, it knew the old mine working plans were faulty but did not enforce regulations for test borings.

Miners on the street at Nanaimo regarded the government's subsequent investigation of the disaster "simply a whitewash," he declared.

The amendments he asked in workmen's compensation were that full compensation be given for men partially disabled, that allowances for children of widows be given up to the age of 18 instead of 16, and that parents of unmarried men killed in industry be given compensation on a fixed scale.

Mr. Guthrie cited cases of men who had come to him complaining they had not received wages for months and demanded why their employers were not prosecuted.

Fifty-four loggers had been killed so far this year, he said, and the reason seemed to him that working at top speed all day they were sometimes too tired at night to avoid falling logs. An end should be put to the contract system of cutting as one means of prevention.

Mr. Guthrie said the relief regulations which docked a man's allowance if he earned more than a certain amount in a month robbed him of all incentive to take temporary work. He told one case of a small fruitgrower who was threatened with losing his crop and said this was unfair.

He concluded with the assertion that the Legislature and the government was ignoring the whole economic problem facing the world today; that no government could hope to put all the people to work, but that they must change the economic basis of private ownership for profit.

Group Hospital Plan Explained

Operation of group hospitalization schemes in the interior of British Columbia was described to delegates of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association convention here yesterday afternoon by representatives from various districts where the schemes are in effect.

This discussion was led by S. M. Cosier, Kamloops, who told of a plan in operation at Kamloops, embracing 2,000 members. The scheme offered protection to about 6,000 persons, including the subscribers and their dependents. Mr. Cosier said, for the payment of $12 a year.

The protection given was ward accommodation for all ordinary sickness, accidents and maternity for the subscriber, his wife and dependents under 21 years of age. The hospitalization included use of the operating room, pathological laboratory, stock drugs, medicines and all equipment belonging to the hospital. A subscriber desiring private ward accommodation paid the difference, Mr. Cosier said.

The plan did not provide the services of a doctor, who must be engaged before the subscriber's admittance to hospital, Mr. Cosier continued. Payment of annual dues was arranged to suit the subscriber. He said the hospital broke even on the financing under the plan which worked well under any conditions except epidemics.

Details of the Kelowna plan were reported by G. A. McKay, who said there had been a $4,421 loss on the operation last year. The Nanaimo scheme was outlined by J. O. Nicholls, while E. R. Humphries and W. G. MacKenzie described the schemes in Trail and Powell River. All were similar in their benefits and appeared to be working with general success.

A talk on "Mental Hygiene" was given by Dr. A. L. Crease, general superintendent of mental hospitals for B.C., during the early part of the afternoon's programme.

SECOND SECTION

Helen Wills Moody To Tour As Professional

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

WHEN Coach Wally Brynjolfson gets around to picking the men who will carry the colors of Victoria into Big Three McKinnon Cup rugby competition this season, he should have a considerable amount of smart new material from which to pick successors to the diminishing Old Guard. Although rugby has suffered in this city through the loss of several outstanding players in recent years, this year's Crimson Tide may possibly find the new blood needed to inject into the representative squad.

In former seasons, Victoria representatives have followed much the same pattern through successive seasons. But with new material to weld in with a few experienced players, the Capital City should have something different this year. Although the season is just under way the proximity of the first cup match forces an early consideration of representative possibilities.

J.B.A.A. and Oak Bay Wanderers, two top clubs in the league, have a wide selection of players, with several veterans of former rep battles. The Bays are a fast-moving outfit as a team and to date have their only equal in the Wanderers. In outstanding performers the two fifteens are strong but may have heavy competition on their hands when the Navy swings into action.

Jack Ferguson has turned in two excellent games in the full-back position for the oarsmen. Victoria has not seen a first-class back since Roddy McInnes held down the safety line for the Crimson Tide. Creditable showings have been made in the backfield by Bill Halkett, Buzz Brown, Les Bridge and Ralph Shepherd of the Bays, while in the Wanderers' same department Bill Brown, Tom Carney and Ronnie McConnell are hitting their stride. In the scrum half position, Wally Stipe appears in a class by himself.

As in the past, Campbell Forbes is showing his forward ability to advantage in the Oak Bay pack. Bill Wharton looks like the logical man for the hook position despite the fact he has slowed up considerably. The two fighting Doherty brothers, Cyril and Frank, have turned in some splendid exhibitions for the Bays. Other outstanding pack performers include Jack Rutten, Frank Collier, Doug Bray and Tom Dalzell of the Bays, and Acland of the Wanderers.

Varsity Cagers Win By Point

VANCOUVER—A foul shot in the last minute of the game gave University of British Columbia Thunderbirds a tight 36 to 35 victory over Munro's in an Inter-city Basketball League battle last night.

Munro's led 21 to 16 at half time.

With three minutes to go Munro's led 35 to 29, but Varsity tied the score 35 to 35 with a minute to play and then Straight sank a foul shot to make the final count.

Munro's missed two free throws in the last seconds.

Ran Mathison led Varsity scorers with 11 points, while Bobby Marsh was high for Munro's with 9.

MAROONS WINNERS

In an intermediate A girls' game in the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League played last night at Lake Hill the Maroons defeated West Road 26 to 22. The teams were tied 10 to 10 at half-time.

Former Champion Will Make Debut Early Next Year

Promoters Seek Jadwiga Jedrzejowska As Opponent for Californian

Has Fine Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Helen Wills Moody, whose long-time reign as queen of the world's tennis courts, covered a period from 1923 to 1936, has agreed to accept a professional contract and make a country-wide tour this winter.

Final arrangements, the Associated Press learned today, hinge only on the question of obtaining a suitable opponent for the famous Californian.

Prospects are Mrs. Moody will make her professional debut in Madison Square Garden early in January, and her playing rival will be Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, the husky Polish girl who was runner-up to Anita Lizana of Chile for the United States singles title.

It is understood Miss Lizana, as well as two American stars, Alice Marble and Helen Hull Jacobs, turned down professional offers during the quest of New York promoters for the party of the second part.

Miss Marble was United States champion in 1936. She ended a four-year reign at Forest Hills by Miss Jacobs, long considered Mrs. Moody's foremost United States rival.

HAS DEFINITE OFFER

Miss Jedrzejowska, now in Poland, is reported to be weighing a definite offer to join this winter's tennis tour.

Meantime the promoters, headed by Francis T. Hunter, former national doubles champion, partner of Bill Tilden, have decided to withhold any definite announcements. Hunter declined today either to deny or affirm reports Mrs. Moody already was under contract.

It is believed Mrs. Moody has been guaranteed a substantial sum, probably $25,000, in addition to a substantial percentage of gate receipts. Estimates of her potential earnings for a single professional season range from $50,000 to $100,000.

Her venture will mark the first time a women's champion has taken the pro spotlight since 1926, when Suzanne Lenglen, the great French player, was the main attraction of a troupe organized by C. C. Fyle.

Before coming to this country for a series of matches with Mary K. Browne, former U.S. titleholder, Miss Lenglen received a certified cheque for $50,000. She profited additionally to the extent of $25,000.

WOULD BE "NATURAL"

The box office "natural," sought unsuccessfully, was a renewal of the Moody-Jacobs rivalry. This reached its most dramatic heights in 1933, when Mrs. Moody defaulted in the third set of the national singles final while trailing 0-3, due to an ailing back. Mrs. Moody did not try a comeback until 1935, but she met Miss Jacobs in the Wimbledon final and turned the tables with a thrilling third-set finish.

Before and after her marriage to Frederick S. Moody Jr., recently dissolved by a Reno divorce, the Californian captured seven United States and seven Wimbledon singles crowns. She was nine times a member of the Wightman Cup team, capturing 16 of her 18 singles matches. She first won the U.S. title in 1923.

WAR ADMIRAL WINS AGAIN

Comes From Behind to Capture Pimlico Special; Masked General Second

BALTIMORE—Fortune smiled on War Admiral yesterday, and Samuel D. Riddle's doughty brown colt came from behind to win the 1-16 mile Pimlico special on Courage.

It was the eighth-straight victory for the three-year-old money-winning champion and the $5,680 prize brought his earnings to $165,500.

His grateful owner announced after the race: "I have given trainer George Conway two months' vacation, and the Admiral will not race again this season."

Masked General, Brandywine Stable's gelding, carrying 100 pounds to the Admiral's 128, seemed to have victory clinched until he ran wide, coming into the stretch and faltered.

War Admiral, quoted at 1 to 20, the season's shortest odds, paid $2.10 for $2 and Masked General paid $3.30. There was no show betting.

The General collected $1,500 for second, War Minster $750 for third, and Bottle Cap, victor over War Admiral in a sprint last year, $400 for fourth and last.

Navy Footballers In Fifth Victory

Beat Spencers 3 to 1; Practically Cinch First Half in Mid-week Loop

The Navy soccer eleven practically sewed up first half honors in the Hayward Cup race in the Victoria Wednesday Football League yesterday afternoon when they beat Spencers 3 to 1 at Admirals Road for their fifth consecutive triumph, which gives them a six-point margin in the standings.

The outcome of the Athletic Park encounter was quite a surprise with the lowly Gorge Hotel team pulling out with a 4 to 2 win over the Hudson's Bay. The victory, however, did not hoist the hotelmen from the cellar berth where they have been since the season opened.

A good percentage of Esquimalt's naval forces turned out at Admirals Road to watch their fellow seamen boot out a 3 to 1 triumph over Spencers' eleven. The navymen sagged the hemp twice in the opening session and once in the final canto, while the departmentals managed to avert a shutout by notching a tally during their stiff offensive late in the game.

While both teams came out fairly even from the point of aggressiveness in the first half, Garriot Baker's Diamond S squad showed no finish whatsoever. They wallowed around miserably in their goal forays and consequently were easy victims for an alert back division. The Navy on the other hand displayed conformity and although the opposing defence and Goalie Stewardson held them for 30 minutes, a pair of well-engineered attacks within five minutes of each other, soon after, resulted in two goals.

While the Navy did most of the pressing for 30 minutes of the last half, during which time they were only able to get one goal past Stewardson, the Diamond S forces for the remainder of the session drove their opponents back on to the defensive and attacked fiercely. Their marksmanship was better. They got one marker and came close to getting a couple of others.

OPENING GOAL

Bobby Brown did a little full-back work for the wrong team and got the Navy away fast. Eddie DeCosta crossed to Bill Geddes on the right wing, who

Send "Feelers" For Bowl Game

Yale or Dartmouth Favored By Bears for Tournament of Roses Classic

PASADENA—California's Golden Bears, Pasadena bound at the moment, have their eye officially on either Dartmouth or Yale as a Rose Bowl football opponent here, January 1.

California still has to qualify for the western bowl bid, which means conquering Washington, Oregon and Stanford. But it's no secret that the Bears prefer one of the far-eastern eleven.

While the rose tournament's athletic committee in no wise makes selections—that's the privilege of the Pacific Coast Conference representative—it unofficially sends out "feelers" early in November.

The report is out that four of these have been sent, and that Dartmouth and Yale got half of them. Silence on the part of the recipients is expected, since the "feeler" only asks if the school would be willing to accept an invitation were it tendered.

Yale, of course, is tied to the same Big Three apron string that made Princeton unavailable a few years ago—a ban on post-season games.

Grid results between now and the end of the season may alter the picture.

The cheer leading on the western slope, aside from Dartmouth and Yale, centres for the most part around Alabama and Duke in the south, Pittsburgh in the east and Nebraska in the middle west.

CHIWACKI TO GRAPPLE HERE

Rough-and-ready Gypsy Will Meet Danny Dusek on Saturday Mat Card

Chief Chiwacki, the husky gypsy who has more badman tricks in his bag than a dozen of the other so-called villains put together, will be back in town on Saturday night, when he will wrestle in the semi-main duet on the Tilticum gym mat show.

Danny Dusek, one of the famous "wrestling Duseks," will be thrown in against the dusky badman. They are scheduled to grapple over the five 10-minute round route. Dusek is no slouch when it comes to handling out the rough stuff and should be able to keep the gypsy in his place.

Donald McIntyre, clever wrestler from the Scottish Highlands, will wrestle Patrick O'Shocker, a red-headed Irishman, in the main go of 10 six-minute rounds.

The card will be completed today. The show is billed to start at 8.45.

Liberty Cafe In Smart Cage Win

Lawn Bowlers Given Awards

Members of Lake Hill Lawn Bowling Club spent a pleasant evening at Lake Hill Community Centre, when the Whittaker Challenge Cup, won by the Canadian Pacific team, was presented along with the club prizes.

The president, W. Peddle, welcomed the guests and thanked the members for their support during the season. He then called on Norman Whittaker, M.P.P., to present the trophy and prizes.

The following teams received prizes: Canadian Pacific—Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Bryant, Mr. Harris, and S. Barr.

Lake Hill—Mrs. McCullum, Mrs. Webster, Mr. Spooner and Mr. McCullum.

Club prizes—Mr. McCullum and Mr. Hutecheon.

The women's prizes, presented by Mr. Peddle, went to the following: Women's singles—Miss Douglas and Mrs. Hart.

Women's doubles—Mrs. McCullum and Mrs. Gough; Mrs. Trueman and Mrs. Upward.

D. Taylor, vice-president, presented Mr. Peddle, the retiring president, with a cut glass, cream and sugar for four years' service to the club.

Defeat West Road 36 to 33 To Take Lead in Senior B Men's Division

In a rip-snorting duel that was plenty rough and fast throughout, Liberty Cafe hoopers practically wrestled their way to a 36 to 33 verdict over West Road last night at the high school gym to assume the leadership of the senior B men's division of the Victoria and District Basketball League.

The middle game on the programme saw Manager George Goldson's Kingham-Gillespie quintette come through with a narrow 17 to 14 win over the red and white uniformed Canadian Scottish, after a close-checking and slow-scoring intermediate A boys encounter. Galsors Superior girls waltzed through for an easy 51 to 20 triumph over Bob Whyte's fighting Adverts in the opener.

The senior B tussle was a mad scramble from start to finish but packed with excitement. Both teams were out gunning for the top berth position. Liberty Cafe got away on a scoring sprint after an early deadlock and built up a nice lead: West Road, however, found their stride before long and were soon trooping right along at their opponent's heels and with four minutes of the half left slipped into the lead 18 to 16 with a trio of successful hoop attempts, two by Ralph Mitchell and one by Karl Young. The boys from the country held their position and had increased

Detroit To Meet Leafs At Toronto While Americans Play Hawks At Chicago

Crowding into football's time zone more than ever, professional hockey, the fastest game in the world, and the most profitable in Canada, flashes on to the sports stage tonight for its 1937-38 season.

At Toronto and Chicago the National League will stage the earliest opening in its 20-year history as the world champion Detroit Red Wings meet Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Americans play Chicago Black Hawks. Last year the schedule started November 5.

Over the next six days other teams will swing into the schedule gradually. Montreal Canadiens appearing last, as they meet Black Hawks in Montreal next Tuesday. The 192-game schedule doesn't end until March 20, giving eager fans in seven cities almost five months of the sport.

In that time about 120 young men, most of them in their twenties, will be paid salaries ranging from $3,000 to $7,000, and perhaps more to settle the questions that are plaguing earnest fans.

The most important of these is whether Red Wings will capture their third straight world title, something that hasn't been done since Ottawa's famed Silver seven won the Stanley Cup for the third straight time in 1905.

Some fans are certain there isn't anything in the league to prevent Detroit doing it, but it should be remembered that they finished last season's regular schedule only six points up on Boston Bruins, and that it took everything they had to beat Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers in the playoffs.

OTHER QUESTIONS

Another matter for speculation is whether King Clancy, newly-appointed coach of Montreal Maroons, can infuse his veteran players with enough of the Clancy drive to make them a potent Stanley Cup threat. Those who have seen the King crack the whip in training camp are betting he will.

The fans are wondering, too, whether Toronto Leafs' untied defence will stand up and whether Eddie Shore will return to his old form after a serious injury, and lead Boston Bruins to their first cup victory in 30 years.

It probably will be months before any of these questions are answered conclusively, but tonight's games may give some indication of what Toronto's defence is like, whether Red Dutton's collection of stars and cast-offs are imbued with the famed Dutton "keep punching" philosophy, and what Bill Stewart, the referee-turned-coach, has been able to build at Chicago.

Detroit doesn't seem to have a chink in its armor. Doug Young and Larry Aurie are back with the legs they broke last season in good shape and every other unit in the machine that won the world title last spring is clicking nicely under the finished coaching of Jack Adams.

Even with the rebuilding Dutton has done, Americans aren't impressive. Their main hope of survival lies, as it has for two years, in the line made up of Art Chapman, Lorne Carr and Sweeney Schriner, the league's leading scorer for two seasons.

SOCCER MEETING

The Victoria and District Wednesday Football League will hold an important meeting Thursday at the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30. All team managers are asked to attend.

Would Register All Who Move

Chilliwack Man Proposes Plan To Check on Transients

Registration by identification card of persons moving from one province to another and from one city to another as a means of checking on transient relief cases was suggested in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday by L. H. Eyres, Conservative, Chilliwack.

Mr. Eyres said there should be no discrimination in giving relief to Canadians moving about the country just because of the argument which government was responsible. The identification cards would, however, keep a check on them, he said, and should state a person's birthplace, his age and his reasons for moving.

The Chilliwack member pleaded for apprenticeships for young unemployed men and special aid for unemployed men in the 50-year age group who were not wanted in industry, but must wait 20 years to get an old-age pension.

"Many of these men were paid $1.10 a day by the Canadian government to be killed—now they are offered 69 cents a day to live," he said.

Mr. Eyres said that while he represented the richest agricultural district of the province, farmers in the Fraser Valley were "slowly working themselves to death from 4 in the morning to 8 at night" because of low returns for their produce.

He expressed alarm at the importation of vegetable oils competing with British Columbia-made butter. It was, he admitted, a problem largely for the Federal Government. He complained of hop-pickers' wages in the valley amounting to $1 to $1.50 a day for the average man, who had to put his school-age children in the fields to make ends meet. The pickers were paid 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound and if the price were raised to 2 to 5 cents it would mean a difference of only three-quarters of a cent a gallon in the price of beer.

For years prior to 1917, Pennsylvania had no beavers, but game officials restocked certain areas and now the state has about 15,000 beavers.

Stable Policy Aid To Mines

Liberal Financing Encourages Capital Says W. J. Asselstine

Stable taxation and mining trail construction, results of provincial government policies, have meant a great deal to the mining industry of British Columbia, W. J. Asselstine, Liberal, Atlin, declared in the Legislature yesterday.

Mr. Asselstine, an expert mining man himself, declared taxation stability had been a big factor in inducing capital into the province to expand primary industries.

"There is no shortage of capital for the development of promising mine prospects in British Columbia today," he declared. "Money earned by eastern mines and other industries is available to develop prospects of merit in British Columbia."

Mr. Asselstine said it required from $100,000 to $500,000 in investment to bring a 100-ton gold mine to profitable production, and if investors thought for a minute the government intended to try any half-baked financial scheme, they wouldn't undertake even the preliminary work for such a venture.

Government mining trails, he said, had meant savings of as much as 50 per cent in the cost of hauling concentrates to the smelter. Often this was the difference between loss and profit.

Value of the mineral industry to the province could not be gained in view of the official figures which showed 14,180 men directly employed with a total payroll of $18,000,000 annually, and an average weekly wage for miners of $29.10.

Mr. Asselstine said he hoped the government would foster a programme of encouraging scientific prospecting, possibly by naming a young engineer to do post graduate work studying application of methods to British Columbia.

CLASH OVER ROAD COSTS

Premier and R. L. Maitland Argue Over Long List Of Questions

Premier Pattullo and R. L. Maitland, K.C., Conservative, Vancouver-Point Grey, got into a warm argument at the end of yesterday's sitting of the Legislature over the Conservative demand for detailed data of road expenditure in all ridings last summer.

Mr. Maitland had listed 40 sets of questions asking how many were employed and how much money spent in each riding this year and last.

"The member could have saved a lot of printer's ink by lumping them all in one question," Premier Pattullo said. "Anyway the information for 1936 is all in the public accounts, or can be obtained from the public accounts committee. The figures for 1937 are not completely compiled yet."

"As a matter of fact the member only thinks he is trying to show that because this was an election year more money than usual was spent. I don't know the actual figures but if more was spent this year it was because we had more to spend."

"That's no answer," retorted Mr. Maitland. "The government just wants to save itself being embarrassed. I put down every riding for that very particular reason. And it doesn't show in the public accounts."

"We're complaining that there is no orderliness in government expenditure, that all ridings were starved until election year, then a great loan was floated and the money spent willy-nilly."

"The Liberal party never won the election. They bought it with this money."

"My friend will have to adopt a higher policy than that before he ever gets on this side of the House," the Premier replied. "In previous governments it has not been the practice to answer questions like this, which take up a lot of time unnecessarily when the information is in the accounts. In case of any matters of pressing urgency we would not hesitate to file answers."

"The public knows it was only recently we were able to re-establish the provincial credit so we could borrow money for much-needed roads. It is silly to talk as if everything were done this year."

"And we haven't spent all our loan, either. Being a provident government we kept a little nest egg in the hole for next year."

Mr. Maitland kept insisting he wanted an answer until the Speaker took notice and reserved his decision on whether the government should file individual answers.

Dealing with another question about the cabinet's traveling expenses during the summer, the Premier said they would also be published in the accounts. The question was evidently intended, he said, to deal with expenses at election time and he assured the House that the public would not have to pay a cent of the election expenses for any of the cabinet.

MAKES PLEA FOR HIGHWAY

Thomas King Tells Legislature Interior of Province Awaits Tourists

The road from Vancouver to Golden should be a national undertaking, as a link in a Canadian highway, from Pacific to Atlantic, Thomas King, Liberal, Columbia, said in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

He was speaking on roads in the interior of the province and said his district, at any rate, was ready for tourists as soon as the roads were ready.

He thought government agents in outlying districts should be given a little more authority in certain cases. He told of one man, injured in a car accident, who, because he had only recently arrived from Saskatchewan, received nothing in the way of compensation. There were many similar instances and the country storekeepers were usually the sufferers, for their unpaid bills piled up.

The dairy industry, he said, was at a low ebb and the average cow in his district gave a supply worth only 6 cents at each milking. This prohibited hired help.

The Workmen's Compensation Board, he said, was very fair and always gave justice. He did not think such boards should be castigated.

"Under present conditions we are getting along very well," he said. "If the government took over mines and lumber, for instance, what chaos there would be. We are now living in high heaven compared to when I was a boy."

He told how he walked 12 miles a day, 360 miles a month, to milk a cow, for 25 cents a month and he wore out no shoe leather because 90 per cent of the boys in those days wore no shoes.

PAYMENTS FOR INDIANS VARY

Hospital Delegates Report Differences in Allowance For Patients

Variations in the allowances of the Department of Indian Affairs for Indian patients in different hospitals of the province were brought to the attention of the B.C. Hospitals' Association convention in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

The discussion was led by Dr. E. G. Darby of Bella Bella, who said his hospital received $2.50 a day for in-patients, which was an all-inclusive rate to cover X-ray, operating room and serum costs. For out-patients, however, there was no allowance for any of these services.

The Nicola Valley Hospital at Merritt reported an all-inclusive rate of $2 from the department. The delegate said this did not cover actual cost of treating the patient, and he felt the hospital was entitled to this cost.

Smithers Hospital reported a rate of $2.75 a day, Prince George $2.75, Abbotsford $2.50, Salmon Arm $2.50, Alberni $2.75 and Rest Haven Sanitarium $2.50.

Several delegates also reported differences in the department's attitude towards making capital grants for new construction at hospitals. Alberni and Bella Bella both reported special grants towards construction, while Duncan reported it had been unsuccessful in endeavoring to secure extra aid.

In some instances the delegates reported the departmental allowance was sufficient to cover cost, while others felt it was not enough.

S. M. Cosier, Kamloops, suggested that in cases where the allowance did not cover costs there were outlying hospitals where per capita costs on all patients ran higher.

In honor of Miss Mayne Watt, whose marriage to W. J. Atkins will take place this month, Mrs. J. Eddie, Amphion Street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home last Friday evening. The gifts were presented in a basket decorated in Hallowe'en colors, covered with a witch. Refreshments were served from a table centred with a bowl of orange marigolds and lighted by orange tapers in glass holders. During the evening contests were enjoyed, the winners being Mrs. D. Reed and Miss Christie Watt.

DUNCAN FORMS JUNIOR GROUP

Victorians Present At Inauguration of Chamber of Commerce Branch

With 20 members of Victoria's Junior Chamber of Commerce present to encourage them and wish them success, young business and professional men of Duncan yesterday evening formed a Junior Chamber of Commerce.

More than 35 applications for membership were on file at the inauguration, and it is expected several more will join the new organization.

The Victoria representatives, who traveled to Duncan in a chartered bus, took a large part in the meeting. Ernest Harris, president of the Victoria chamber, outlined briefly the work of the group, and Leslie Osborne, president of the British Columbia Junior Chamber of Commerce, challenged the young men of Duncan to "help themselves by helping their community."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was growing faster than any other type of organization on this continent, Thomas Watkins said in extending the good wishes of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce. All Junior Chambers of Commerce in British Columbia except one or two, which were new, were a part of the great Canadian organization.

Norman Foster, secretary of both senior and junior chambers here, offered the congratulations and encouragement of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Victoria; and explained more details of the work undertaken in this city. In the course of last year's programme 78 committees were formed, he said.

Mayor James Greig of Duncan thanked the Victoria delegation for their help and their interest.

Credit for the formation of the Duncan Junior Chamber of Commerce was given to George MacMillan, secretary of the Duncan senior chamber, by the president, J. B. Creighton. The chamber was only on the threshold of possible developments, and welcomed the young men, Mr. Creighton said.

Mr. MacMillan moved the inauguration of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, proposing also a new slogan, "It Can Be Done in Duncan."

Two Years For Retaining Boat

Harry Smith, Indian, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Magistrate Henry Hall in Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon for retaining a fishing boat stolen from H. Norman, Vancouver.

In imposing sentence the magistrate said he was compelled to take into consideration Smith's considerable past record.

Smith first appeared in court on October 22. On October 27 he pleaded guilty, and on Tuesday was remanded for sentence.

Smith had traded the boat to another Indian at Beecher Bay for a car and money. Norman had been forced to go on relief because of the loss of his means of livelihood. The vessel was a 29-foot gillnet boat.

Don't Experiment with Remedies Unknown to You... Ask Your Family Doctor First

There is no such thing as a "bargain" in unknown remedies—no matter how little you pay.

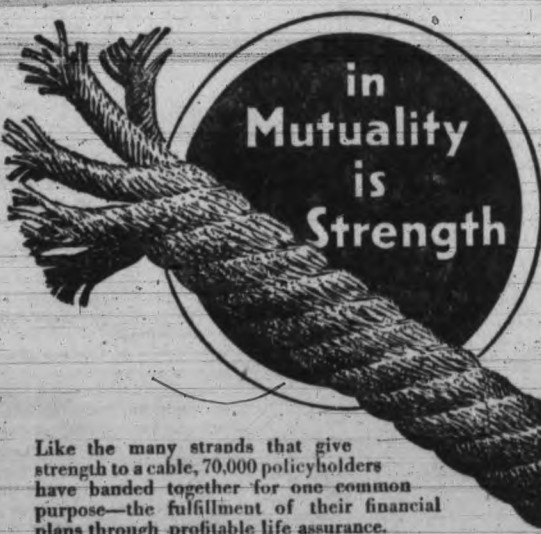

That is true especially of "Milk of Magnesia"—so often given to children. The brand known to doctors and public alike for 50 years is "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia." That is the brand to ask for at the store—PHILLIPS—because it is safe for children.

What to remember is this: Make sure to say PHILLIPS and get the original—at every drug store.

Would Release Railway Stock

A bill under which $600,000 in securities deposited by the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway with the British Columbia government in 1910 will be released to the company was introduced in the Legislature yesterday by Premier Pattullo.

The securities were capital stock in the company, pledged with the government as a guarantee for work to be carried out. Release of the stock is now sought for the purposes of financial reorganization. A further explanation will be given by the government on second reading.

Stop Signs Mean What They Say

The word "stop" on a stop sign really means what it says, Magistrate Henry Hall emphasized in City Police Court this morning in fining a motorist who had thought it was sufficient to slow down and change into second gear because the road he was entering was clear of traffic. "I know a good many people do what you did and just change into second gear, but I thought they realized it was against the law," said the magistrate. "I assure you it is."

Added Control In Regulations

New Hospital Rules Planned To Clarify Expenditures Says Inspector Ward

New hospital regulations in British Columbia are designed to strengthen the control of hospital boards and provide the provincial government with proof to show the public why hospital costs in British Columbia are higher than in other provinces of Canada, Percy Ward, provincial inspector of hospitals, told the convention of the B.C. Hospitals' Association here this morning.

In drafting the new regulations under the Hospital Act the Provincial Secretary's department had consulted the Union of B.C. Municipalities, the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons and the executive of the hospitals' association, he said.

Explaining the new regulations, Mrs. Ward said that provincial and federal governments contributed about one-half of the cost of public hospitals. Because of this the taxpayer was entitled to documentary proof that his money was being wisely spent and being spent only on those who needed it. Further, he was entitled to proof of efficient management of hospitals from both the scientific and economic standpoints.

To provide this proof the department had also adopted new forms which it was proposed should be filed with the department from hospitals of the province.

British Columbia was paying two and a half times as much towards hospitals on a per capita basis as were other provinces west of Ontario, he said.

The per capita levy in B.C. was $1.27, in Manitoba 69 cents and in Ontario 35 cents.

Mr. Ward did not propose to say these greater B.C. amounts were not necessary but there was an obligation on the department to get proof of this necessity.

The standard rate of hospitalization was 1,385 days for 1,000 persons, he continued. In B.C. there were 1,849 days' treatment given for every 1,000 persons in the population.

Per capita costs must go up, in Mr. Ward's opinion, but care must be exercised that special services were not given patients not requiring them who could get cheaper treatment elsewhere.

As a result of the department's studies, as shown in the regulations it was proposed to give the board of directors absolute control, with full responsibility for everything that happened in the hospital.

Provision is also made for a medical staff, comprising physicians and surgeons licensed to practice in the hospital. This staff would meet regularly and act in an advisory capacity to the board. This would give the physicians a voice in the management which would be in both their own interests and the interests of their patients.

The regulations also vested with the board control for the admission and discharge of patients.

NEW ACCOUNTING FORMS

Mr. Ward reviewed at length the new forms to be employed and the changes in hospital accounting which they would require.

A talk on "The Romance of the Royal Columbian Hospital," by Mrs. C. D. Pelee, director, started this morning's programme.

The history of the Royal Columbian was the history of British Columbia and was romantic and interesting, she said.

Woman Admits Shoplifting

Efforts are being made by city police to curb petty shoplifting in downtown stores, especially of the grocery type.

In City Police Court this morning Magistrate Henry Hall gave suspended sentence to a housewife after she had pleaded guilty to the theft of a quantity of foodstuffs from the Piggly Wiggly store at 739 Fort Street.

Evidence of the manager and a clerk of the store showed the woman had placed butter, bacon, lard and cans of salmon and lobster in a paper bag which she kept under her arm and did not show to the clerk along with the other groceries she had placed in a shopping basket.

Defence counsel, asking for suspended sentence, pointed out it was the woman's first offence of any sort and that she had not realized the seriousness of what she had done until she had been stopped by the clerk and taken into the manager's office. She had offered to make restitution for the stolen goods.

The monthly meeting of the Victoria West Liberal Social Club has been postponed, and will be held Wednesday, November 10.

NEWS IN BRIEF

"Technology Smashes Price System" is the subject for a public round-table discussion by Technocracy Incorporated tonight at 8 in room 222 Pemberton Building.

The annual meeting of ex-members of the Seventh Battalion will be held at the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion, Saturday, November 13. Officers will be elected.

Among highlights of President Roosevelt's recent trip across the continent, the Washington Post lists "the warm and gracious hospitality of the Canadians at Victoria, B.C.," as his most pleasant experience.

Bank clearings in the city for the week ending today were $2,028,540, according to a statement issued this morning by the Victoria Clearing House. Figures for the same period last year were $1,922,821.

Alderman W. T. Straff, M.P.P., addressed a meeting of Esquimalt Liberal Association last night. His topic was the coming federal by-election. J. F. Mesher, president and 27 delegates to the Liberal nominating convention Friday was chosen.

A permit for the construction of a $3,000 five-room home at 590 Merryfield Avenue, was issued by the city building inspector's department to Louis Jarvis, contractor, today. Another covering replacements at 1030 View Street, at a cost of $400, was also granted.

City police are investigating alleged sabotage at a mill operated by H. Kilpatrick at 437 Bay Street. He reported to police yesterday evening that enemy powder and grit had been placed in the oil cups on a lathe-cutting machine, and that four bearings had been burned out.

"Who Is Susie?" is the question that has nearly every student of the Victoria High School filled with curiosity. All students who attend the pop meeting in the school auditorium at noon tomorrow will find out who Susie is. The meeting will be the second one of its kind held this year and will feature gags, singing and cheering.

The regular monthly meeting of the Cymrodorion Society will be held in the A.O.F. Hall, Cormorant Street, tomorrow evening at 8. A programme that will interest all has been arranged, and the following artists will take part: Mrs. Ridgway, P. Glendinning, B. White, T. Obee, S. James and others. Ladies are asked to bring refreshments.

Apparently not entirely satisfied with the action of the school board in shelving consideration of salary revision issues until the beginning of next year, city school teachers will seek an interview with the board next Wednesday evening. It was understood today. It is believed the board will grant the teachers' request and hear delegates at the session.

George Burgess was fined $10 by Magistrate Henry Hall in provincial police court yesterday afternoon, when he pleaded guilty to having a shotgun in his possession at Gordon Head without a license. The magistrate imposed the minimum fine when Burgess explained the gun was not loaded at the time, and that he was taking it to a prospective purchaser. Costs were assessed at $2.50.

No inquest will be held on the death of Archibald McHugh, whose body was found Monday morning in his cabin at Port Renfrew on the west coast of Vancouver Island with a discharged .22 pistol lying beside it. The body was brought to Victoria yesterday by Constable George Armstrong of the Criminal Investigation Bureau of the Provincial Police, who went to Port Renfrew to assist Constable S. E. Menzies, stationed at the west coast community, in his investigation. The body is at Sands' Funeral Parlor awaiting burial.

Valley Residents Asks Tolls Lifted

The matter of tolls for the new Pattullo Bridge across the Fraser River, to be opened November 15, is still under consideration, Premier Pattullo said in the Legislature replying to a question of L. A. Shepherd, C.C.F., Delta.

Petitions have been received from residents of the Fraser Valley asking that the bridge be toll free, the Premier replied.

Replying to questions of Dr. Frank Patterson, Conservative leader, the Premier said negotiations for transfer of the old bridge to the Dominion Government were still proceeding and that he had made the statement if the Dominion contributed half the cost of the new bridge the Legislature would be asked to wipe out the tolls.

H. O. Simpson First Outsider To Announce Candidature For Alderman

Entry of Harold O. Simpson, salesman, into the civic election field today assured a contest for the five aldermanic seats which become vacant at the end of this year.

Mr. Simpson was the first outsider to announce his candidature. Already in the arena are Aldermen Ed Williams, R. A. C. Dewar, S. H. Okell and T. W. Hawkins and ex-alderman Walter Luney.

The new entry, Mr. Simpson, declined to discuss his platform as he made his announcement today, but declared himself deeply interested in the B.C. Electric franchise question. He made his first appearance on the civic election platform last year but was unsuccessful at the polls.

RELIEF LISTS REMAIN DOWN

October Family Unit Figures Above September But Beneath Last Year's Total

The total number of families drawing relief from the city started on the seasonal up-trend last month, but still remained well below the corresponding figure for October last year, figures released by the relief department today showed.

Against 755 units securing aid from the city in October, 1936, last month's total was 555. It marked an increase of 27 over the 528 registered in September.

Single unemployed totals were only two above last September: the October listing being 404 against 406 in the same month last year.

The increase in the married lists over the previous month was considered normal for this period of the year.

Coming Climax Lecture Theme

E. E. Richards will speak on the world situation, under the title "The Approaching World Climax," tonight at 8, in the Chamber of Commerce.

The seriousness of the present situation, as crisis succeeds crisis, and a world catastrophe draws near, will be stressed by the speaker.

Mr. Richards will inquire: "When will our people awake to the fact that it is not merely a question of the return of the former German colonies, but two continents: Africa and Australia; India and the Dutch East Indies; the Mediterranean and the sea routes; China and the Straits Settlements—a redistribution of the earth's surface."

Lantern slides will be used.

Eight More Tax Reversion Sales

Eight more tax sales were put through at the City Hall today, raising the total since the annual tax sale started to 24.

The eight properties which went under the hammer today brought in $3,914.11, raising the total return from sales today at 10 and will probably extend to the middle of next month, it was learned from the assessor-collector's department today.

MINING CAMPS IDEA STUDIED

Committee of Legislature Asks Nova Scotia for Outline of Scheme

Establishment of mining camps in British Columbia for the educational training of unemployed young men may follow a report which the mining committee of the provincial Legislature may make on the subject.

Meeting at the Parliament Buildings this morning, under the chairmanship of W. J. Asselstine, the committee decided to wire Hon. Michael Dwyer, Minister of Mines in Nova Scotia, asking full details of that province's mining camps. A reply is expected by airmail early next week.

Mr. Asselstine explained some of the features of the Nova Scotia government's plan. An old gold mine had been taken over, with the Dominion and provincial governments sharing two thirds of the cost and the mine producing

PASTOR GIVES PEACE TALK

Rev. A. E. Whitehouse Says League Work Out of Proportion to Support

Admitting the weakness of the League of Nations, Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, pastor of Metropolitan Church, in speaking to the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club today, declared that what the League was doing was out of all proportion to the practical support it was receiving.

"No country has contributed the cost of a single dreadnaught to the maintenance of the League," he declared.

The mention of the very word Geneva had the essence of defeatism in it, Mr. Whitehouse said. However, he had been connected all his life with a movement which had not realized what was hoped.

Thirty years ago in Massey Hall, Toronto, a great movement had been started with the slogan "The World for Christ in This Generation." "I have seen the enthusiasm he had volunteered to come out to the west."

He soon realized, however, that there was a disproportionate amount of sentiment in the movement. And he came to the final conclusion that any idea of a universal religion had to be built on a basis of something more than dogma, something like universal peace or universal brotherhood.

Mr. Whitehouse spoke of the utility of much talk as far as peace was concerned. He told of a movement in England whose members swore that in the case of war they would place themselves between the combatants and receive the first fusillade.

He did not advocate this, but felt there was a need for a larger degree of unanimity with regard to peace. Lloyd George had suggested that the Christian churches band together and under the leadership of the Pope make their convictions felt.

Mr. Whitehouse said that one of the reasons for the widespread fatalism in the world was that though there was a lot of anonymous sentiment for peace there was no mechanism by which it could be collected and the force of its impact felt.

"Treaties make peace no more than constitutions make nations," Mr. Whitehouse said. "You can drift into war, but you can't drift into peace."

Herb Pendray introduced the speaker. Captain T. J. Goodlake was in the chair.

Fred Butterfield said that the superfluities sale which was successful as last year. Over $530 had been taken in through the sale of some 50,000 odds and ends.

Joe Doe announced that a model airplane club had been started for boys. There would be classes in the building of planes at the Boys' Central School every Friday evening.

Edmund Woodward was re-elected a member of the club.

SEES HEALTH PLAN COMING

Mrs. Paul Smith Optimistic Of Future Possibilities For Insurance

An optimistic note that in the not too distant future British Columbia may have a bigger and better scheme of health insurance, in which all organizations connected with health administration will be asked to co-operate, was sounded by Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., in a luncheon address to the B.C. Hospitals' Association convention in the Empress Hotel today.

"I feel we have become in British Columbia a convention conscious," said Mrs. Smith in opening her remarks and referring to the benefits of gathering for an interchange of ideas. Such meetings eventually evolved new plans to meet new problems that arose.

"Today we live in an age of rapid change," she said, in noting a lagging of sociological change in keeping with industrial change. In this was the challenge—to keep sociological enough to pay the other third.

The scheme is similar to the forestry camps in British Columbia. The young men, between the ages of 19 and 25 receive training in all branches of mining. The training was purely educational and a mine with a mill gave full training. The course lasted six months to a year, depending on the boy. Mr. Asselstine said. When they were finished, the boys were given letters saying they had had experience.

"I haven't a doubt, that with the number of mills now being built in Canada, a boy with a little experience would be picked up as soon as he finished his training," Mr. Asselstine told the committee.

changes abreast of industrial changes.

The result of the scientific and industrial changes was a compelling change in social life.

"Yet in all our advancement we have failed to provide what people most want—social security," she said. "Not only have we failed to keep abreast of technological advance, but, I think, in part, we have gone backwards."

SOCIAL SECURITY

In earlier days the necessities of life had always been assured, but today there were the fears of unemployment and ill-health always surrounding the home.

There was evidence in both Great Britain and the United States of efforts to provide this security that was not existing, she said.

Who could doubt that unemployment and health insurance would undoubtedly be the law of the land in future years? Mrs. Smith asked. They must come because they were the will of the people, she said.

Today people demanded social services. There was a necessity for relief, pensions, education and justice that could not be denied.

In health services there was a demand for different treatment for the mentally sick and preventive medicine for body ailments. Clinics, research and improved hospital care were also part of this demand.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of blood, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get from McFarlane and Vancouver Drug Store, or any druggist, a package of Hemoroid and use as directed.
This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness,
and aids in healing the sore, tender spots.
Hemoroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost.

NEWS WRITER CLUB SPEAKER

Thomas Wayling Will Address Men's Canadian Club Next Monday

Thomas Wayling, well-known international news correspondent and a member of the Ottawa Press Gallery, will be the speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Men's Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel next Monday.

Mr. Wayling's subject will be "A Canadian Reporter Abroad," and he is expected to describe some of his experiences during a recent extended tour of Europe during which he attended several events of world importance.

Mr. Wayling last year was president of the Parliamentary Press Gallery. He is parliamentary correspondent for the Vancouver Sun and several other papers, and is a free lance writer and frequent contributor to such periodicals as Maclean's, Saturday Evening Post, Liberty and Saturday Night. He is well known as a speaker in the east, and greatly in demand.

This year Mr. Wayling crossed to England on the Canadian Des-trover Skeena. He was in the Abbey for the Coronation, after which he remained to cover the Imperial Conference. He was delegate to Germany with the Canadian ex-service men, and then went to Paris for the exposition. He covered Premier Baldwin's final speech in the British House of Commons and accompanied Premier King to Aberdeen and Dundee. He had some interesting experiences, including flying from London to Brussels, Cologne, Berlin, Amsterdam and Paris, and he witnessed television operations at the British Broadcasting Corporation.

O'CONNOR TO REMAIN HOME

Hurdling Star Will Not Represent Canada at British Empire Games

COBBOURG, Ont.—Judge L. V.
O'Connor told the Rotary Club yesterday his hurdling son, Larry O'Connor of University of Toronto would not represent Canada in February in the British Empire Games at Sydney, Australia.

The Canadian 120-yard hurdles champion, in his fourth college year, felt the extended overseas trip would interfere too seriously with his studies, Judge O'Connor said.

Best hurdler ever developed in Canada, O'Connor placed fifth in his specialty at the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin and was counted on as a probable winner in Sydney. He set a new Canadian record of 14.3 seconds this summer.

Early Botanists
All Medical Men

All the early botanists on Vancouver Island were doctors of medicine, J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, told a recent meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society.

Archibald Menzies was the first and probably the most famous of these. He was assistant surgeon on the schooner Discovery, but he was most famous for his arbutus Menziesii.

Others whom Mr. Munro mentioned included John Schooner and David Lyall. J. S. Helmcken, who was the only medical man from San Francisco to the North Pole and from the Red River to Asia was the first doctor not to practise botany.

In the short business session preceding the address the society decided not to hold its usual May flower show, but to have a daffodil show on April 9 next year.
Winners of the monthly contest were: For celery, A. E.
Powell and A. D. Miles; chrysanthemums, E. Bailey and George Atwood. In the novice class, Mrs. E. S. Mitchell won for celery and chrysanthemums. "P. R.
Leighton presided.

Marx Brothers Appealing Fines

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—
Groucho and Chico Marx, movie comedians, Wednesday filed an appeal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here from their conviction for criminal infringement of copyright of material used in a radio skit.

The brothers, who this week were fined $1,000 each, contended the evidence was insufficient to convict, that the indictment was faulty, and cited alleged errors in the trial and in the instructions to the jury.

grounded the leather past Stewardson. With 30 minutes gone it was the opening goal.
Five minutes later, when Lloyd Cann muffed a clearance Eddie DeCosta took possession and another hot grounder found the corner of the hemp for the last goal of the half.

Daryl Bissell and Lloyd Cann, when the closing stanza got under way, were quite successful in keeping their goal clear up until the 25-minute mark, when Geddes centred in front of the goal. A first-class melee developed and the ball finally found its way over the line, Bissell's desperate clearance kick apparently having rebounded off Eddie DeCosta, who was on the ground with the goalie and another player. Politano piled in Spencer's tally during their closing barrage.

FIRST VICTORY

Gorge Hotel emerged from the tussle with Hudson's Bay with their first victory in five starts.
Playing at the enclosure the hotmen drove over a trio of markers in the first half, another in the second half and held their opponents to a pair of goals.

The Gorge boys showed surprising form, and it appeared that they could do nothing wrong.
The Bays, however, fell down in trying to walk the ball into the net. As a result of a badly cut hand suffered during a melee in front of his posts late in the first half, Goalie Charlie Saddler, of the Gorge Hotel, was handicapped, but stayed between the uprights for the entire game, and did well.

The first goal came during the opening 15 minutes, Barney Barnswell's drive glancing off the post into the net. For the next 20 minutes the department-als did most of the pressing, but at this time Tommy Belford increased the hotel lead by scoring on a cross from the right wing, the drive beating the netminder easily.

Breaking away from their own end, the Gorge boys made it 3 to 0 when Belford tallied. Renfrew managed to ward off two previous attempts. Some minutes later half-time sounded.

The Bays got on the scoreboard not long after play resumed, Fogden converting Les Gelling's cross from close in. A first-timer by Barnswell 20 minutes later made it 4 to 1 for the Gorge.
Speller's pass was converted by Bob Preston to account for the Hudson's Bay's last tally. The Bays pressed heavily for the reminder of the game.

Percy Shrimpton refereed.
The teams were:
Gorge Hotel—C. Sadler,
Coates, Geoghegan, D. Gent,
Fieldhouse, W. Sadler, Kirby, Barnswell, Belford, Carr, K. Gent and Webster.

Hudson's Bay—Renfrew,
Wyatt, McConnell, Williamson,
Kennedy, Oakman, Crees, Mc-Bride, Fogden, Preston, Speller and Gelling.

Great Sets In
"Cafe Metropole"

Loretta Young and Tyrone
Power in Fast-moving
Romance At Oak Bay

In the motion-picture world, the milestones upon the road of production progress are often marked by outstanding sets, looming in the history of the movies just as triumphal arches mark the paths of conquerors in the history of mankind. The most triumphal of these, the largest set ever built for any motion picture, is that of "Cafe Metropole," Twentieth Century-Fox romance opening today at the Oak Bay Theatre, with Loretta Young, Tyrone Power and Adolphe Menjou in the starring roles.

The vastness of the "Cafe Metropole" set recalls other monumental scenic achievements, such as the huge plaster-cast elephants which, with upraised trunks, guarded the gates of Babylon in D. W. Griffith's trail-blazing "Intolerance." These huge beasts still maintain their silent vigil on the ground where the feet of the screen-immortals trod.
Except for the elephants, that set has long ago crumbled into dust, but the tradition will forever remain in cinema archives, and in the memories of all who witnessed the drama there enacted.

JANE WITHERS IS FEATURED

Half-pint Robin Hood Puts
"Pep" Into "Pepper" At Columbia Show

"Pepper," Jane Withers's new Twentieth Century-Fox picture, opens today at the Columbia-Theatre and promises to be the greatest hit in the mischievous miss's succession of triumphs.

Irvin S. Cobb and Slim Summerville, two of filmland's most popular funsters, are featured with Jane, with the cast also including Dean Jagger, Muriel Robert, Ivan Lebedeff, Maurice Cass and Ro-mane Calender.

In "Pepper," Jane plays a window-busting, shin-kicking, tomato-throwing half-pint Robin Hood of lower New York, whose pranks have the entire neighborhood in a constant uproar.

CAPITOL

The story of a man who, at the pinnacle of his success, as one of France's outstanding writers, risked hard-won position to save an unjustly accused captain of the French army. That is the tense dramatization of "The Life of Emile Zola," climaxed by the famous Dreyfus case, and which is now at the Capitol Theatre.
Paul Muni plays the title role.
Without losing for a moment the fine continuity of the famous author's life, the picture touches upon the notables of Paris of the late 90's in dramatizing Zola's trial on a charge of libel. Forced to flee Paris, it is while in exile that Zola finally wins freedom for Dreyfus, exiled on Devil's Island.

ABBOTT PLAY

Success of "Room Service" Producer Attributed To Permanent Group

George Abbott is the only contemporary New York producer who maintains his own acting organization. So loyal is he to players who have made good in his other productions and so resolved on sustaining a policy promoting permanency, that this group is known as the Abbott Acting Company.

When his latest New York comedy success, "Room Service," comes on Monday night, November 15, to the Royal Victoria Theatre, the nucleus of this company will consist of Joseph Greenwald, Matt Briggs, Clinton
Sundberg, Fleming Ward, Mary
Cheffey, Patricia Palmer, John
Clarke, Edward Nannery and J.
Ascher Smith, all of whom have appeared in Abbott productions over the last several years. New

A historical moment and a his-

John Ericsson's vivid personality is the famous biography unrolled to a tensely interested audience, and his long struggle to win official recognition of his ironclad gunboat idea a compelling theme.
The eventual building of the Mon-with the Merrimack, provides a gripping story.

Bedaux Still Speaks For Duke

Steelers Active In Irregular Trading On Wall St. Market

Criticized By Labor, But He Will Guide Ex-King Edward on U.S. Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Duke of Windsor will not change his designation of Charles E. Bedaux as his representative on his United States tour despite American Federation of Labor criticism of Bedaux, the latter indicated today.

Bedaux said in a statement released through his press representative here that he had talked with the Duke in Paris today over the telephone and the former King Edward was "looking forward with all the enthusiasm of a young man to his visit to the United States."

Bedaux's statement was issued shortly after William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had said he approved the action of the Baltimore Federation of Labor, Wednesday night in criticizing the selection of Bedaux to arrange the United States itinerary of the Duke and Duchess. Green said the Baltimore resolution "fairly represented the attitude of American Labor."

Bedaux, an industrial engineer, has installed an efficiency system in a number of United States factories that labor men call "the stretch out."

"What I mean," Green added, "is that labor is opposed to the stretch out, not the former king."

"No comment," said John L. Lewis, busy getting ready for the A.F. of L. Committee for Industrial Organization peace conference.

The resolution of the Baltimore federation "warned" organized labor there not to be "taken in" by "slumming parties" professing to help and study labor.

It called Bedaux, who has been arranging the tour, an "arch-enemy of labor."

Ibn Saud In New Arab Move

Italian Reports Tell Of General Islamic Uprising Against British

PARIS (CP Havas) — The Rome correspondent of the rightist newspaper Le Figaro today reported King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, was planning to proclaim himself monarch of all the Arabs, with his rule extending from Baghdad, Iraq, to Morocco.

It dispatches widely displayed in the Italian press are true, the correspondent said, Arabia already is in open revolt against Great Britain in preparation for a general Islamic movement against the "British oppressors."

The correspondent said: "Dispatches from Jerusalem, Cairo and Alexandria unanimously assert that troops of the Hedjaz (under King Ibn Saud's rule) are advancing toward the frontiers of Transjordan, the only Arab country whose government thus far has remained friendly toward Great Britain."

It was her first tomato reception, but she took it. She took one tomato right over the eye. It was hurled by her singer-husband, Frank Chapman.

Chinese Warned On Japan Money

SHANGHAI (AP) — The Chinese finance ministry ruled today any Chinese found circulating Japanese money would be subject to charges of endangering the safety of the republic.

The ministry said Japanese recently had dumped quantities of bank notes and silver coins on the world market because of failure of the Japanese market to absorb government bonds quickly enough to yield cash for immediate military expenses.

On Wall St. Market

TORONTO (CP) — Gold stocks again kindled some enthusiasm on Toronto market today but other groups were inclined to taper down.

Lake Shore, McIntyre and Dome Golds were up a point to 14. Losses in the base metals ranged 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Imperial Oil, British American, International Petroleum, Walkers common, Ford A and Distillers, Seagraves were all at narrow declines. Steel of Canada slipped back 4 1/2 to 65.

Nickel, Smelters, Pend, Oreille and Falconbridge worked lower, Nickel selling in heavy volume. Eldorado was up a few cents.

Minor losses were posted in western oils for Anglo-Canadian, Home, Calgary-Edmonton, Calmont and Firestone. Royalite was up a point to 33.

On Wall St. Market

TORONTO (CP) — Gold stocks again kindled some enthusiasm on Toronto market today but other groups were inclined to taper down.

Lake Shore, McIntyre and Dome Golds were up a point to 14. Losses in the base metals ranged 4 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Imperial Oil, British American, International Petroleum, Walkers common, Ford A and Distillers, Seagraves were all at narrow declines. Steel of Canada slipped back 4 1/2 to 65.

Nickel, Smelters, Pend, Oreille and Falconbridge worked lower, Nickel selling in heavy volume. Eldorado was up a few cents.

Minor losses were posted in western oils for Anglo-Canadian, Home, Calgary-Edmonton, Calmont and Firestone. Royalite was up a point to 33.

In Shakespeare's Town

IV—OLD HOMES

Among my good friends in Stratford-on-Avon is Mrs. Gertrude Asquith. For more than 20 years she has been an invalid, not able to walk, but she has kept a friendly and cheerful spirit. While I was visiting her the other day she pointed out a picture of Shakespeare, which hangs in her room.

Shakespeare

"Some time ago," she said, "a lady who had come to see me looked at Shakespeare's picture and asked, 'Is that a picture of your husband?' I did not tell her whose picture it was but found a photograph of my husband to show her."

Shakespeare died 321 years ago. A number of pictures of him exist, and at least one or two of them are believed to be good portraits of him, as he looked while he was alive. After he died, a "death mask" was made of his face.

Mrs. Asquith wrote a note to a friend asking that I be allowed to go through a certain house in Stratford-on-Avon. This house was once the home of Suzannah Shakespeare, one of the daughters of the famous poet. It is a private house, not open to the public. For more than three centuries, different families have been living in it.

Shakespeare had two daughters and one son. The son died in childhood, but both the daughters grew up and were married.

After winning success in London, William Shakespeare returned to his native town to spend the later years of his life. His work as an actor and as a writer of plays had brought him a small fortune, as well as a great deal of fame. He bought a fairly large house to live in. It was called "New Place," but it was more than 100 years old when he moved into it.

Quite a long while ago, "New Place" was taken down. We are told that the man who lived in it was so tired of having people come to look at it, that he ordered it pulled down, stone from stone. All that is left now is the foundation and the well from which Shakespeare obtained water.

In the grounds around "New Place" there is a beautiful garden. It is said to contain every kind of flower Shakespeare named in his plays.

The other day I talked with Mr. William Jaggard, who has a book shop in Stratford-on-Avon. He told me that one of his great-grandfathers (and about nine more greats), printed the first complete edition of Shakespeare's plays. He showed me a book of about 1,000 pages, which he himself had prepared over a period of 23 years. The book is composed of a list of volumes printed about Shakespeare, and of the different printings of the great poet's plays.

ENVOY TO GERMANY

TOKIO (CP-Havas) — With Japan tending to tighten its bonds with Europe's Fascist powers, the Society for Strengthening the German-Japanese Anticomintern Pact decided on Wednesday to send a special envoy to Rome and Berlin to aid "the war" against "the plague of Communism."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—You say that when a son of a household won't work, drinks, sponges upon the other members of the household, that they should turn him out of doors and force him to work or starve. No doubt that is true, but what are you to do when you love the wastrel? We have such a brother. He is everything that is unworthy, but we still love him, perhaps the more because he is so weak. If we turn him out, where would he go? His friends in dissipation don't want him. We do at any price. We would give anything to put him on the straight and narrow path, but harshness won't do it. Threats won't do it. Kindness won't do it. Entreaties won't do it. Nothing will ever do it unless he himself makes up his mind to reform. How, then, will your remedy work? HIS BROTHER.

Answer—It probably won't work because nothing short of a miracle can put principle and decency, self-respect and strength of purpose into a weakling. But to throw such a one on his own resources is the only chance that is left to save him.

DEAR MISS DIX—Through the medium of your paper I request someone with experience and wisdom offer a solution for the blackest moment in a young man's life caused by the injustice and persecution of people who glory in the knowledge that through their intentional meddling they attempt to destroy and shatter the love of two young people who have for the past few months lived in the Seventh Heaven of contentment and love.

My past has not been perfect, of course. Whose has? But it is made to appear worse than it actually is, through people who should uplift instead of attempting to drive a person into the very chasm of despair. I have paid dearly for my mistakes in life, and if one can now claim reward by living the life of a perfect law-abiding, God-fearing citizen, I am sure I can at this present day.

Painting is my business, and I work hard and diligently always. It is dirty work at times, but affords a man a decent living, intermittent work that it is. But people have gone to any and every extreme to institute my dismissal through the mere reason that they refuse to give a man the right to do and live rightly. However, the faith and belief my employers have invested in me has fully proved itself worthy of their trust as I have not violated it in any way. But the greatest aching void within me has been caused by someone who has stooped so low to employ the meanest extremes to harm me; I think, to actually discredit me and paint a bad picture of me to the employer of the girl I love, creating an impression wholly unfavorable to my character and causing him to stipulate that she was either to "give me up or to resign her job."

She knows everything there is to know about me and is, nevertheless, confident of her love for me; and we both love each other as much as humanly possible. But my fiancée—who was—badly in need of her job to pay off hospital and doctor bills which she so admirably insists paying above everything else just as quickly as possible. She is beset at every turn in life with worries and grief enough to put some people in the insane asylum. Were I in the position financially to marry her now, we would do so immediately, but my work at this time of the year won't permit the bliss we both have so longingly contemplated.

Therefore, she has been compelled to forsake me for the job she needs; taken unfair advantage of through the small minds of they who consider themselves objects of purity, pillars of respectability, who, if it were known to the general public, would hide their faces in shame.

But—the burning question is—what can we do? We have reluctantly and tearfully parted, wondering if life, after all, is worth while living since, under no volition of our own, we are now compelled to abide by the will of her employer; living day by day, our hearts aching and torn by despair in longing for the happiness we enjoyed, but now reflect upon as dreams destroyed by persecuting humans who are an insult to the very word, Human.

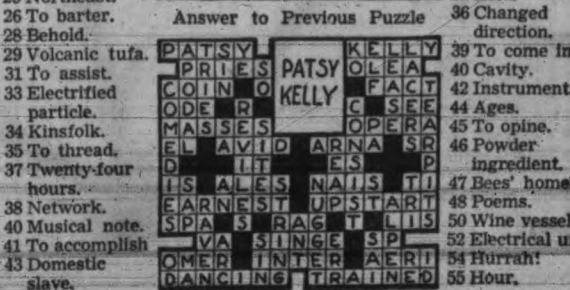

Answer—Stick to your work. Continue to prove the confidence placed in you is justified. In the course of a few weeks, maybe, her employer will begin to see things in another light. Perhaps you or the girl, when you cool off a bit, will get another slant on it all. Time alone can test the three of you. For her employer to discharge her to save her from you would be utterly heartless.

OCEAN FREIGHT RATES TO SOAR

Revision of Trans-ocean Rates Considered at Montreal Conference

MONTREAL (CP)—Advances in trans-Atlantic freight rates within the jurisdiction of the Canadian freight conferences will go into effect January 1, W. C. Sproule, secretary of the conferences, announced today.

A "general revision" of trans-ocean freight rates is now under consideration by the conferences, Sproule said.

"Most of the changes," he declared, "will become effective January 1, 1938, and will show advances in the present rates."

They are necessary, he asserted, to "bring earnings in line with operating expenses, which have increased greatly during the last few years and recently very sharply."

For a number of years, he said, carriers in the Canadian service had suffered severe losses, and even with many full cargo sailings now, earnings did not meet expenses and provide for replacements and "reasonable interest."

"In revising rates," the secretary said, "they are not attempting to take advantage of the present tramp situation and scarcity of space, but rather to make prudent adjustments consistent with the cost of maintaining services."

Special commodity rates "unduly depressed" in the last few years would have to take greater increases than others.

World freight rates on sea have been increasing rapidly in the last six to eight months, Sproule declared in further explanation of the proposal. In many cases, tramps with no regular schedules had been chartered at rates "far in excess of regular liners."

Half-a-dozen Ships Listed to Pick Up Lumber at Ogden Point Assembly Plant This Month—Intercoastal Freighters Celtic Monarch Due—Hylton, Coming for Drydock, Reports Saturday at Daybreak.

Six new fixtures to load lumber at the Ogden Point assembly plant between now and the end of the month, were announced today.

They are the freighters Hylton, which is due Saturday to drydock for overhaul; Sedgpool, for the United Kingdom; Stensby, a regular caller here and also for United Kingdom; Bennekum, now on berth loading at Vancouver; Caduceus and Winkleigh.

Sedgpool, Stensby and Bennekum are under Anglo-Canadian charter. King Brothers are agents. Ms. Borgestad, which has been loading 600,000 feet at Ogden Point for United Kingdom, got away shortly after noon today for Port Alberni.

CELTIC MONARCH DUE

Bound to Victoria from Montreal in the intercoastal service of the Vancouver-St. Lawrence Line, Ss. Celtic Monarch is expected to arrive here Saturday.

She has several hundred tons of eastern Canadian cargo for discharge at Ogden Point, after which she will shift to Vancouver.

HYLTON ON SATURDAY

A radio message from the master of the inbound British freighter Hylton was received by Yarrows Limited today stating the ship would arrive here by daybreak Saturday morning.

Yarrows will take over the vessel following her arrival and float her into the Esquimalt graving basin for overhaul.

The change was made to accommodate shippers.

HERE FROM LONDON

George E. Cowie, general freight agent, Canadian National Railways, London, England, visited Victoria yesterday on an inspection trip to the Pacific coast.

He called on Charles F. Earle, district passenger agent, and Alastair Campbell, district freight agent, Canadian National Railways.

MCKINLEY ON TIME

Ss. President McKinley, inbound from the Orient, will arrive here on schedule next Wednesday, November 10. William M. Allan, local agent for the American Mail Line, has been advised.

The McKinley is reported to have another large Orient freight aboard, including a consignment of Mandarin oranges from Japan.

The biggest cargo of Japanese oranges, however, will be aboard the President Grant, due to arrive here November 24.

DOCK SHEDS CLEAR

When Longshoremen knock off work today the warehouse at Pier 2, Rithet docks, which yesterday was jammed with 2,033 tons of Orient cargo discharged by Ss. President Jefferson, will be practically clear.

All day yesterday trucks were busy transferring 400 tons of freight to Ogden Point docks for transshipment by the ferry Canora to Port Mann to be routed east over the Canadian National system.

The balance will go east over Canadian Pacific tracks via Vancouver. Ss. Princess Elizabeth left last night for Vancouver with her freight decks full, and Ss. Princess Joan, which is loading at Pier 2 today, will sail tonight.

AIRPORT LIGHTING

VANCOUVER—Installation of night lighting facilities at Vancouver's civic airport on Saanichton Island will begin immediately and will probably be completed within three weeks, Alderman H. D. Wilson, chairman of the civic airport committee, announces. The cost will be $12,492.

Denied Refuge, Devil's Island Fugitives Sail On

Refused refuge at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, which rises in the background, these four fugitives from Devil's Island, French penal colony in French Guiana, about 1,000 miles behind, are pictured above as they wearily started paddling their flimsy tin-patched craft out to the open sea. The worn convicts, who landed at St. Thomas after a perilous 60-mile voyage from Trinidad in their frail boat, hope to reach Haiti. The four, Raymond Vande, Francois Freau and Paul Renucci, Frenchmen, and Battistio Giovanni, an Italian, were serving terms ranging from attacks on fascists to knifings.

Former Indian Agent Passes

Edward E. Frost Served As Alderman and School Trustee At Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Edward E. Frost, resident of Alberni for the last 30 years, and Indian agent here for 12 years, died suddenly yesterday at Banfield, where he was employed as inspector on the wharf being constructed by the Dominion Government. Mr. Frost had behind him an interesting career. Born in Norfolk, England, he enlisted in the Royal Artillery in 1886 and served 21 years in Bermuda, Halifax, China and the west coast of Africa. He was pensioned in 1907, and in that year came to Alberni. Here he served as first city constable, police magistrate, forest ranger, road foreman, alderman and school trustee, before entering the Indian Department, and last year he was again elected to the Alberni city council. When the World War broke out he enlisted with the First Canadian Pioneer Corps, early in 1915, serving in France until the cessation of hostilities, and winning the Military Cross.

He leaves his wife and four daughters: Mrs. Leighton McKicking, Victoria; Mrs. Angus McLean, Mission; Mrs. John Perry, Alberni; and Mrs. W. Rice, Alberni; also two sons, Hector and Alfred, Alberni.

Capt. Alex McKay 102 Years Today

NANTON Alta. (CP)—Capt. Alex McKay, who sailed the Great Lakes years before the first trans-Canada railway was built, celebrated his 102nd birthday at his home here today.

The grand old man of the south country greeted his friends and neighbors as they visited his little cottage to extend birthday greetings.

Capt. McKay, born in Stornoway, Lewis Island, Scotland, came to Canada in 1849, the passage on a sailing ship taking three months. Early in life he became a sailor on the Great Lakes, making his home at Lucknow, Ont.

In 1905, he came to Alberta to farm. He retired from his Clearholm farm in 1922, moving into the town of Nanton, 60 miles south of Calgary.
